Intermediaries Could Negotiate for Pueblo

Military Action Remains Last Resort Possibility

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Official sources report President Johnson still seeks a diplomatic solution to the Korean crisis but that if the USS Pueblo and her crew aren't released by North Korea in a matter of days he will urgently consider proposals for further military action.

U.S. officials, in reporting this, pointed to the President's surprise broadcast to the nation Friday afternoon as providing evidence his diplomatic activities at the United Nations, Moscow and elsewhere are backed by the potential for military action if peaceful means fail.

"We have taken and are taking certain precautionary measures," Johnson said, "to make sure that our military forces are prepared for any contingency that might arise in the area.

"These actions do not involve a reduction in any way of our forces in Vietnam."

Reserves Readied

The President already has ordered the call-up of nearly 14,800 Air Force reserves.

At the Defense Department preparatory activity was under way in the National Guard Bureau and Reserve offices. Name lists and equipment inventories were being checked.

Some authorities speculated Johnson's next mobilization move could be to call up a National Guard division, but the President has not announced any decision.

Three Guard divisions have had stepped-up training in recent years and their equipment supply has been improved. These are the 28th Infantry in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio; the 38th in Indiana, Illinois and Michigan; and the 47th in Minnesota, Oklahoma and Wisconsin.

At full strength, a division normally numbers about 14,000 men.

Enterprise Nearby

Johnson's other military preparation moves following the Pueblo's capture have included dispatching the Enterprise and its accompanying task force off the Korean coast. The Enterprise has about 90 fighters and bombers.

Other ships in the task force are the nuclear frigate Truxtun and three destroyers.

Additionally, two squadrons of jet fighters are reported to have been moved into South Korea from bases in Japan and Okinawa.

In his Friday broadcast, Johnson denounced the seizure of the Pueblo as "yet another wanton and aggressive act" and said it had taken place beyond North Korean territory in international waters.

"Clearly, this cannot be accepted," Johnson said.

There were reports today in the Washington Post and Baltimore Sun from New Delhi saying Soviet officials accompanying Premier Alexei Kosygin indicated Moscow is interested in freeing the ship and her crew.

The Soviets hinted broadly to diplomats and correspondents that there was a gap between Soviet actions and Moscow's initial response to U.S. requests for help, but wouldn't say whether there had been direct Soviet contacts with North Korea, the reports said.

The reports quoted the Soviet sources as saying if the United States admitted a violation of North Korean territorial waters, it might simplify release of the vessel and crew.

North Korean Assassination Squad Eliminated

SEOUL (AP) — American and South Korean troops and police have all but wiped out the 31-man North Korean team sent south to assassinate President Chung Hee Park, with 25 of the intruders killed and one captured.

Two of the North Koreans were shot to death early this morning by South Korean troops pursuing the remnants of the team, and the hunt for the last five continued in the rugged, snow-covered hills about 15 miles north of Seoul.

The counterespionage center said that the pursuers have located the five intruders and that a successful completion of the sweep operation was "just a matter of time."

Since the Communists infiltrated southward last Sunday, two American soldiers have been killed and 12 others wounded in sporadic clashes. The South Koreans have lost 24 soldiers, two policemen and eight civilians killed. Another 40 South Koreans, including 33 troopers, have been reported wounded.

A U.S. military spokesman, meanwhile, said there is evidence that the assassination team infiltrated into South Korea through the barbed wire and chain link fence strung along the American sector of the demilitarized zone. U.S. and South Korean military officials took the lone captured member of the North Korean team, 2nd Lt. Kim Shin-cho, to the DMZ and he showed where the team made an opening in the barbed wire with a wire cutter and patched the hole after crossing by tying the wire back. South Korean officials said a good kick made the mended barbed wire fall apart.

The fence-barrier was designed to cut down on North Korean infiltrations. U.S. officials had recently said not a single sign of infiltrations had been noted since the fence went up last September.

U.N. Works On Canada's Suggestion

By WILLIAM OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council's debate over North Korea's capture of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo centers today on a Canadian suggestion that intermediaries work on a deal for return of the vessel and her 83-man crew.

The 15-nation council scheduled a Saturday session on a U.S. complaint that North Korea seized the ship in international waters and also sent assassins into South Korea in an attempt to kill President Chung Hee Park.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg filed the complaint Thursday night. Canada's suggestion came at the council's first meeting late Friday when the council voted to debate the Pueblo case 12-3 over opposition from the Soviet Union, Hungary and Algeria.

Speedy Solution

Canadian Ambassador George Ignatieff said the council should "find appropriate means" of helping get "a speedy and equitable solution."

"One way of doing this," he said, "might be to arrange for an intermediary or intermediaries to exercise good offices in this matter."

He told reporters later, "I think that is the only way to get the boat back." He expressed hope that the idea would be taken up in weekend talks among delegates on what kind of resolution the council might adopt.

A Canadian source said that by intermediary Canada meant a country rather than an individual. He said the idea was to have one or more countries acceptable to both North Korea and the United States try to settle things.

Only Chance

Some delegates expressed belief that a resolution along those lines, sponsored by some delegation other than the United States, was probably the only kind that would stand a chance of passing.

When the council met, Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov and Hungarian Ambassador Karoly Csatorday fought in vain to keep the U.S. item off the agenda.

Goldberg told the council dan-

Bomb Police Station

4-Way Robbery Plot Foiled by FBI

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The FBI has arrested seven men and accused them of plotting to blow up a police station and power plant and then rob four banks Friday while the police were diverted.

The FBI said some were members of the Minutemen, described by the federal agency as an anti-Communist organization. However, in Norborne, Mo., Robert DePugh, chief of the Minutemen, said only one name was familiar to him.

FBI agents arrested four of the men Friday in a car in a parking lot in Lake City, just north of Seattle. Three others were seized in another car in a parking lot in Bellevue.

Agents said floor plans of the banks, 10 gasoline containers rigged as firebombs, nine sticks of dynamite, blasting caps, a pipe bomb, a .32-caliber pistol and two .38-caliber pistols were found in the cars.

Bombings Planned

The FBI said the seven planned to rob three banks in Redmond, a few miles south and east of Lake City and Bellevue, and another in Des Moines, just south of Seattle, after blowing up the police station in the Redmond City Hall and a power plant in Redmond.

Federal agents said the men were led by Duane van Carlson, 35, of Seattle, described by the FBI as a fulltime Minutemen employe.

De Pugh said Carlson probably was a Minuteman at one time "although I do not have any records before me. I believe he was dropped about a year ago for nonpayment of dues. The other names are not familiar to me, and I don't know anything about them. Carlson was, I believe, state chairman for the Patriotic Party and helped arrange some meetings and lectures for me in Washington."

Those Arrested

Besides Carlson, the others arrested were Joseph David Hourie, 20, of Seattle, an employe of a grocery chain; Ervin John White, 41, of Edmonds, a self-employed draftsman; Jerome Nicholas Henderson Sr., 57, of Bothell, a church sexton and part-time maintenance man; Kelly E. DeLano, 24, of Tacoma, a civilian driver at Ft. Lewis, near Tacoma; Milton James Dix, 34, of Seattle, a longshoreman, and Jerome Nicholas Diemert, 43, of Arlington, an unemployed ship's oiler.

They were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Walter Reseburg on charges of conspiracy to rob a bank. Bail ranged from $500 for Dix to $30,000 for Carlson. By late Friday the only one to post bail was Dix.

Submarine Disappears in Mediterranean

Several Nations Helping Israel in Search for Dakar

By HAL MCCLURE
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — American, British and Greek ships and planes helped search today for an Israeli submarine with a crew of 69 which disappeared in a deep section of the Mediterranean Sea Thursday, an Israeli army spokesman said.

The spokesman said contact with the submarine Dakar was lost Thursday afternoon when it was 250 miles off the Israeli coast. There was no suggestion the submarine was lost to hostile action.

In the area of the search, south and southwest of Cyprus, the sea is more than one mile deep, the British Royal Air Force air-sea rescue coordination center on Cyprus said.

Due Monday

The Dakar — which means shark—was due to arrive in Israel Monday after being rebuilt at Portsmouth, England, last autumn. It was declared battle-ready in November after testing off the Scottish coast.

Because of the distance of the search area from Israel, the Israelis asked friendly nations to help.

The RAF said one British destroyer and one American destroyer set out early today, joined by nine planes—four Israeli, two British, two American and one Greek. It said more ships and aircraft were expected.

Low visibility and stormy seas hampered the search.

Israel lost the destroyer Elath to Soviet-made rockets fired from Egypt last Oct. 21, but that was within about 14 miles of the Egyptian coast. In retaliation for the attack, which killed 47 Israeli sailors, the Israelis destroyed an Egyptian oil refinery with artillery fire in the Suez Canal area.

The 285-foot, 1,280-ton Dakar is one of four submarines listed in Israel's navy, all British-built and dating from World War II. The Israelis bought it in 1964.

Before refitting, it was reported capable of a speed of 15 knots submerged and carried six torpedo tubes. Its armament after refitting has not been disclosed, but military experts in Tel Aviv believe the sub can match Egypt's Soviet-made vessels. Egypt has nine submarines, all Soviet-built.

Combat Ready, Korea Declares

'Exterminatory Blow' Promised If Red Nation Is Attacked

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea declared itself fully combat ready today and promised an "an exterminatory blow" at the United States if the Communist nation is attacked.

A government statement issued at Pyongyang also said that the United Nations has no right to discuss the seizure of the USS Pueblo off Wonsan.

The statement charged that the United States is "now raising a frantic war clamor" by bringing the Pueblo incident to the United Nations and "mobilizing armed forces on a large scale."

"But," it said, "the U.S. imperialists, no matter how they act, can never conceal their ugly nature of aggressor, nor surprise the Korean people.

"The heroic Korean People's Army and the entire Korean people have got fully prepared for coping with any provocation or invasion by the U.S. imperialists."

Mortars Hit Khe Sanh After Cease-Fire Start

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners opened up with fresh mortar barrages on the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh today and another 3,500 Army troops were flown to the northern front to back up the Leathernecks.

The new barrages came seven hours after the start of a self-declared Viet Cong cease-fire for the lunar new year.

Earlier, Communist troops attacked three allied installations, including a U.S. airfield and hospital, and ambushed a platoon of government combat police inside Saigon's city limits.

A brigade of troops from the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division was moved into the northernmost provinces of South Vietnam fronting the demilitarized zone, apparently as backup troops should they be needed anywhere along the line, including Khe Sanh.

It was the second air cavalry brigade to move to the northern front this week.

The Army now has about 10,000 men, including artillerymen, along the northern frontier. Marine forces, also built up over the last few weeks, total about 40,000 troops. About 12,000 South Vietnamese soldiers are taking over defense of some outposts along the demilitarized zone to free more Marines for maneuver into any hot spots that develop.

The buildup is to counter an expected major North Vietnamese offensive, which U.S. commanders say may come just after the seven-day Communist cease-fire period.

U.S. intelligence reports show 32,000 to 40,000 Communist troops massed in and around the DMZ, about half of them poised near Khe Sanh, which came under heavy attack last weekend. About 5,000 Marines hold Khe Sanh, which is 16 miles below the DMZ and seven miles east of the Laotian frontier.

Ready for Assault

With their large fleet of helicopters, the newly arrived U.S. air cavalry can move quickly to wherever an assault comes.

The U.S. Marines at Khe Sanh, ignoring the Communist announcement of a cease-fire until the allies' 36-hour standdown begins at 6 p.m. Monday,

Pueblo Built In Wisconsin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The USS Pueblo, center of the current crisis between the United States and North Korea, began its career toward the end of World War II as a small cargo carrier for the Army.

She was built in Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and went into service in 1944. The vessel was retired ten years later.

With the designation FS-344, indicating its mission as a service vessel in forward areas, it was taken over by the Navy in 1966, converted into a "special project ship" with electronic gear and listening devices and commissioned in May 1967.

Captured U.S. Pilots May Be Released

North Vietnamese Broadcast About 3 Not Yet Confirmed

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam announced today it has decided to free three American pilots captured in the North and a U.S. Embassy spokesman in Saigon said this was welcome news.

"We haven't been able to confirm the broadcast yet," the spokesman said, commenting on a dispatch from Tokyo, "but if it is true, we would certainly welcome it."

Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency (VNA), monitored in Tokyo, said the pilots "had shown a repentant attitude during the period of detention" and were being set free in connection with the Tet lunar new year. The agency did not identify the pilots or say how they would be released.

First Time

No captured pilots have ever before been turned free. One flier, Navy Lt. Dieter Dengler, escaped from a Communist prison camp in Laos in the sum-

Second Alleged Confession Aired

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — "We are very serious criminals who committed plain acts of aggression and espionage (and) I think we should be punished in accordance with the criminal law of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea."

This is part of a statement broadcast Friday by the North Korean Communists and attributed to Cmdr. Lloyd Mark Bucher, the captured skipper of the U.S. intelligence vessel Pueblo.

Over-all the tone was similar to a "confession" by Bucher aired Wednesday by North Korean Radio stating that the Pueblo had violated the 12-mile international offshore limits and was spying in North Korean territorial waters when it was seized Monday.

Listeners noted that the Friday broadcast contained somewhat less stilted phrases than the first "confession." In that statement Bucher was quoted as saying that the Central Intelligence Agency promised him that if the Pueblo's mission were successful "a lot of dollars would be offered to the whole crew members of my ship and particularly I myself would be honored."

The State Department denounced that statement as "a travesty on the facts" and said the style and wording proved it could not have been composed by any American.

The North Koreans, in an effort to convince the world the "confession" was authentic, have widely distributed photographs which show a man in a dark coat writing on a sheet of paper with a ball-point pen. Only part of his face is showing. Bucher's wife, Rose, said in San Diego, Calif., that the photo resembles her husband "but it is impossible to be sure."

During the Security Council debate on the Pueblo incident at the United Nations Friday, Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov used statements attributed to Bucher as evidence that the Pueblo was trespassing in North Korean waters. U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg asserted that the statements were "coerced and fabricated."

In their broadcast Friday the North Koreans indicated that confessions similar to the one attributed to Bucher have been obtained from other members of the Pueblo's 83-man crew.

Loyola Stops Marquette in 79-71 Tilt

Ramblers Rally in Second Half as Warriors Drop 3rd

CHICAGO (AP) — Marquette blew a nine-point halftime margin Friday night in losing to Loyola's basketball team 79-71 in the opener of a doubleheader at Chicago Stadium.

The loss broke the Warriors' five-game winning streak and sent them in tonight's game at Detroit with a record of 12-3. Loyola is 9-4.

Marquette held a 36-27 advantage at the intermission and then proceeded to go eight minutes and 15 seconds without making a point.

The result was that the Warriors lost to Loyola for the eighth straight time at the Stadium.

Stage Rally

After the half, the Ramblers began hitting over a Marquette zone defense and the Warriors found themselves protecting a 47-42 lead. Then the roof caved in and Loyola counted 23 points while holding Marquette to eight for a 65-55 cushion it never relinquished.

George Thompson finally hit on a jump shot with about five minutes to play but the Ramblers were able to protect their lead to the end.

Jim Tillman was high man for Loyola with 29 points, including 15 in the second half. Doug Wardlaw came off the bench and connected four times over Marquette's zone in the second period, and it was his shooting that forced the losers to abandon the zone.

Loyola — Hot Hand

"The drought that we'd been afraid of finally hit us in our 15th game," said Marquette coach Al McGuire. "Loyola had a hot hand from the outside and we had to go to a man to man when they went one point ahead. We just wore out."

The Ramblers swarmed all over the opposition in the second half in a pressing defense.

"Their press bothered us," McGuire said. "We couldn't run our patterns like we wanted to. We started playing individually instead of together."

The game was rough and each team lost two men on personals.

Brigham-Young defeated Texas-El Paso 81-59 in the Stadium's nightcap.

Ships Tip Patriots, 70-67; Rockets Defeat Bluejays

Neenah '5' Cops 70-58 In M-E Tilt

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — Outpointing its foe, 11-2, in the middle stages of the fourth period, Neenah High School pulled away from a manpower-short Menasha quintet for a 70-58 Mid-Eastern Conference verdict Friday night.

The Bluejays were without four juniors, including three starters, who were being disciplined for a game because of a training rules infraction. The other two regulars — Kevin Conway and Tim Gressler — were seated on the bench with five fouls when the league leaders began their big push.

The triumph was the ninth straight in M-E competition for the Red and White and its 25th in a row over a three-year period. It also marked their 11th overall conquest of the campaign. Menasha is 5-4 in the league and 8-5 for the season.

Early in the fracas, the hosts gave strong indications of making it a walk-away. They sprinted to a 19-6 first period lead and were on top 36-15 with about three minutes to play in the first half. Neenah's scoring was marked by some fine outside shooting by Dan Blank.

42-28 at Halftime

Paced by Gresler and Jack Taves, who didn't start, Menasha fought back to trim the margin to 40-28 before Pat Hawley's two free throws gave the hosts a 14-point bulge at the intermission.

Jankowski and Blank each hit 14 first half points for the victors while Gressler had 10 for Menasha.

The Rockets, who had pumped in eight of 14 field goal tries in the first quarter and seven of 20 in the second (plus nine of 10 free throws) could only find the range for three baskets and two gifters in the third stanza while Menasha posted 15 points for a 50-43 total going into the last eight minutes.

Big Second Period Keys Lourdes Past St. Mary '5', 74-63

Zephyrs' Late Bid Falls Short; Savinske Hits 27 for Winners

MENASHA — Oshkosh, Lourdes squelched a late St. Mary threat and went on to score the final six points of the game for a 74-63 triumph here Friday night.

The victory snapped a four-game losing chain for the Knights and boosted their Fox Valley Catholic Conference record to 5-4. St. Mary has a 2-7 FVCC log.

Lourdes maintained a 64-51 lead with 4:41 left in the game but in the next three minutes was outscored 12-4 as St. Mary trimmed the spread to five points (68-63) with 1:27 remaining.

Then, Dan Savinske, who closed with 27 points for his night's work, slammed in a long jump shot and he added a basket off the fast break to dash the Zephyr hopes.

Hot Second Frame

A strong second quarter gave the Knights a cushion they needed. The Menashans got off to a 19-13 first period lead but in the second frame were outscored, 23-10, giving the visitors a 36-29 advantage at the intermission.

The Knights put the handcuffs on Mike McClone, the league's second-ranking scorer, and he failed to dent the point column in the initial half. He picked up three quick fouls and sat out part of the half. The high-scoring senior made one free throw in the third period and then two baskets and three gifters in the final segment for eight points.

After St. Mary chalked up the first three points of the third period for a four-point difference, the Knights spurted for nine in a row.

The clubs traded spurts the rest of the period and Lourdes managed a 52-45 edge at its conclusion.

Cut Lead to 5

St. Mary slimmed the margin to five points in the first two minutes of the last stanza but then Lourdes hit a chain of eight for a 64-51 tally. Lourdes, which collected 10 of its first 13 free throws in the second half, failed on four straight, all of which would have had an attached bonus.

The misses gave the Twin Citians a chance to chip away and with 2:01 left they were down, 66-59. Jerry Meisinger, who canned 10 of 12 free chances, made two but a long jump shot by McClone and Greg Schultz's fielder off the fast break put the count at 68-63 with 1:27 left. Then came the final Lourdes outbreak.

Savinske made his 27 points on 11 baskets and five free throws. Meisinger had 16 points and Steve Meixenperger hit 11.

Pat Hermus had 18, Mark Pozolinski 14 and Dick Gonnering 13 for St. Mary. Gonnering fouled out with 4:42 left and Pozolinski and McClone were whistled out in the last minute.

The box score:

Lourdes (13 23 16 22 — 74) Savinske 11 5 2, Meisinger 3 10 0, Wegener 1 0 1, Meixenperger 5 1 4, Purtell 3 1 2, Ruetten 4 2 3, Pfeiffer 0 1 0, Luker 0 0 2. Totals — 27-20-14. FTM-13.

AHS-East Nearly Pulls Big Upset

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Appleton East's battling Patriots Friday night came within 42 seconds of engineering the upset of the year in state high school basketball.

Manitowoc's unbeaten Ships — the state's second-ranked team — outscored the Patriots, 6-3, in the final 42 seconds of a fiercely-fought game to log a 70-67 victory.

The Ships' counter-attack erased the effects of a courageous AHS-E rally, that produced eight straight points in 70 seconds to turn a 64-56 Manitowoc lead into a free-for-all.

It remained for guard Bill Sepnafski, a relatively unsung member of the Ships' powerful cast, to crush East's upset hopes. Sepnafski, who almost single-handedly beat Appleton in his best game of last season, swished a 12-footer from the left of the basket to snap the 64-all tie with 42 seconds left last night. He came back 13 seconds later to drop in a pair of free throws to provide insurance.

Sandwiched between the four Sepanfski points was a George Mills free throw to cut the Patriot deficit to one (66-65) with 34 seconds left. But Manty retaliated with four straight free throws — two each by Sepnafski and 6-foot-6 Pete Hansen — for a 70-65 lead with 21 seconds left. Five seconds from the wire, Mills accounted for the final East basket.

With its narrowest win of the season, Manitowoc boosted it's Fox River Valley Conference record to 11-0 and retained its 2½-game lead over Appleton West's runnerup Terrors, who humbled Green Bay Southwest, 71-46, last night. The Ships are now 13-0, over-all, while the Patriots are 8-4 for all games and 6-4 in the conference.

Tonight, AHS-E plays in Green Bay, against the West Wildcats, who have won five straight games.

Despite sitting out almost 10 minutes of the second half, Hansen paced all scorers last night, with 22 points. He dropped in nine of 13 field attempts. Tom Haag (6-4) contributed 19 points, while Vic Trastek and Sepnafski added 13 and 10, respectively.

Tom Jones, 6-4 center who turned in a strong rebounding performance, and sharpshooting Rick Stach spearheaded AHS-E, with 18 points each. Stach

Bays to Duel Browns Again In Exhibition

CLEVELAND (AP)—The seventh annual football doubleheader at Cleveland Stadium Sept. 7 will send the champion Green Bay Packers against the Cleveland Browns after the Detroit Lions meet the New York Jets, Art Modell, Browns' president, announced Thursday.

The world champion Packers will be appearing in their fourth twin bill, while the Jets will be the first American Football League competitor in what previously had been an exclusively National Football League exhibition.

The Browns were beaten by Green Bay 30-21 in the 1967 doubleheader.

Six previous twin bills have averaged more than 82,000 each in attendance.

Skoronski Has a Feeling Vince Will Remain as Coach

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tackle Bob Skoronski of the Green Bay Packers said Thursday night he expected Vince Lombardi to remain on as head coach of the professional football champions.

"I'm no predictor but I've got a feeling Lombardi will continue," Skoronski said in a dinner talk.

Skoronski said Lombardi is already so wrapped up in work after a brief vacation that he was accepting no calls at his Green Bay office Thursday.

Kimberly Hits 53 Per Cent In Downing Truckers, 64-42

Hagany Scores 22 Points for Papermaker '5'

CLINTONVILLE — Kimberly stayed within range of front-running Neenah in the Mid-Eastern Conference race Friday night, as the hot-shooting Papermaker quint outgunned Clintonville, 64-42.

The victory boosts the Papermakers M-E mark to 7-2 and keeps them two games behind unbeaten Neenah.

A combination of 53 per cent shooting from the field and a hustling 1-2-2 zone defense, which the Truckers failed to dent, put Kimberly in control early in the game.

Build Margin

The Papermakers held Clintonville to six first quarter points while scoring 15 themselves, and with Don Hanany, Jeff Wildenberg and Jeff Vanden Heuvel leading the way, built the margin to 33-14 at halftime.

Clintonville was able to cash in on only seven of 25 floor shots during the first half as Kimberly's tenacious defense kept them at long range and gave the Papermakers the rebound lanes. At the same time the visitors fired away at a 16-for-30 clip as their ball-control style put them in good shooting position most of the time.

The Truckers warmed up slightly from the field in the third quarter and quickly cut the Papermakers' margin to 15 but that was the closest they could come as Kimberly reserves fired in 20 points in the fourth quarter to make the final 64-42.

Only 6 Free Throws

The Papermakers held the hot hand they displayed in the first half throughout the game and canned 29 of 55 shots for a nifty 53 per cent. The visitors did not enjoy such success from the charity line however, as they were able to hit on only 6 of 13 free throws.

Clintonville's third quarter warm-up did little to improve

Ghosts Record 72-63 Victory Over Bulldogs

BY TOM VANDER PAS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA — A 28-point outpouring by New London's Greg Wing enabled the Bulldogs to battle Kaukauna on even terms for about three and a half quarters here Friday night, but then the Ghosts got an individual outburst of their own from Ron Vock and went on to a 72-63 Mid Eastern Conference victory.

The win was the third straight for Kaukauna, lifting it over the .500 mark in league action with a 5-4 log. New London looked much better than its present 0-9 record would indicate.

Halftime Lead

The Bulldogs got off to a slow start netting only nine points in the opening canto, while the hosts' Dick Carstens was banging home a dozen to spark the Ghosts to a 16-9 advantage.

Wing and Kaukauna's Dennis Spice found the cords for 12 markers each in the second segment, but New London outgunned the Ghosts, 25-16, to forge out a 34-32 halftime lead.

The visitors' Gary Slosarek, who coined seven points in that frame, knotted the count at 30-all, before Wing flighted a pair of goals and Spice hit a loner just prior to intermission.

Six points by Vock in the following period paced Kaukauna to a 50-47 edge and set the tempo for things to come.

With 4:58 left in the contest, Wing's fielder narrowed the Bulldogs' deficit to a single tally at 57-56.

The issue was quickly settled, however, as Vock went on his rampage, hitting four straight from the floor and adding a charity toss to culminate a nine-point blitz that boosted the Ghosts into a 66-56 advantage. Before the canto had run its course, Vock had totaled 14 of Kaukauna's 22 tallies.

Spice and Carstens set the game pace for the winners with 25 and 22 markers, respectively. Vock was next with 20 as the big three accounted for all but five of their team's over-all total.

Wing's 12 buckets and four free throws led the way for New London, followed by Slosarek with 14 points and Bill Rieckmann with nine.

Kaukauna converted a lusty 47 per cent of its floor shots, meshing 27 of 57 tries, while the losers canned 25 of 65 attempts for a 38 per cent mark.

Green Bay West Rallies to Edge Cardinals, 76-71

FOND DU LAC — Green Bay West High School eluded a determined Fond du Lac Goodrich High School team Friday night in a FRVC game here, 76-71.

After a close first quarter, Green Bay surged to outdistance Fondy, 37-28, at the half. However, Fond du Lac rallied in the third, coming within one point of Green Bay, only to be out-shot again in the last stanza.

High scorer was Fondy's Terry Bestor with 28 points followed by West's Jerry Tagge with 18 and Fond du Lac's Bob Bendrick with 17.

Lawrence's Wrestlers to Face 2 Foes

The Lawrence University wrestling team travels to Northfield, Minn., for Saturday meets against St. Olaf and Carleton colleges.

The Vikes and Ripon will each face the Oles and the Carls in the meet slated for the St. Olaf gym.

Lawrence opened the season last weekend by winning two of three matches in a triple dual at Beloit College. The Vikes beat Coe and Grinnell, then lost to defending conference champion Cornell.

Vike sophomore Linc Saito and senior Bill Mittlefehldt each won three matches in the meet.

Coach Ron Roberts rates St. Olaf and Carleton (4-3) as two of the stronger teams in the conference.

FVL Retains Mastery Over Onalaska Quint

Fox Valley Lutheran kept its victory string alive against Onalaska Lutheran, as the Foxes won a hard-pressed 55-47 non-conference contest at the FVL gym Friday night.

The Appleton school has never lost to the Knights in 10 years of competition on the hardwood. The Foxes now own a record of three wins and 10 losses for the season.

FVL's senior forward, Tim Johnson, led all scorers with 21 points. Onalaska's Norm Seeger with 18 was next. Seeger hit his first seven points in the second period on free throws. He was 8-10 from the line. Johnson meshed 10 field goals, combining long one-handers and layups.

A combination of a strong Foxes zone defense and Onalaska's inability to hit from the outside gave FVL a 14-7 first period edge. The Knights used a zone press and man-to-man to good advantage, holding FVL to a 37 per cent field goal average. However, the Knights hit only 20 per cent in the first period.

Boost Lead to 30-19

The hot hands of Tim Johnson and "Butch" Meitner gave the Foxes' offense a big lift in the second stanza. Meitner came off the bench to score three buckets on drive-ins, while Johnson caged four shots, including two 25-foot one-handers. The Foxes countered the Onalaska man-to-man with some good cutting and picks. Kurt Troge capped the second period rally with a 12-foot jumper with six seconds left to make it 30-19 at the half.

It was a lack-luster second half as both clubs traded violations and points. Onalaska outscored FVL 28-25. However, as the Knights moved to within seven points early in the final period, FVL scored some key close-in shots.

Onalaska hit only 29 per cent from the field for the game. The Foxes meshed 25 of 53 shots for 47 per cent. However, FVL hurt at the foul line, making only five of 15.

AHS-West Trims Southwest

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — John De Young peppered a career high 43 points . . . but it wasn't enough for Green Bay East.

Jerry Tagge was held to 18 points, six below his average . . . but it was enough for Green Bay West.

DeYoung's sensational point popping kept the Red Devils ahead of Oshkosh until midway in the third period when the Indians surged ahead and eventually snatched an 83-68 victory in Washington Junior High Gym.

Tagge was the victim of a box-and-one defense but two of his six baskets came just at the end of the third period to blunt a Fond du Lac charge and spur the Wildcats to a 67-61 conquest of the Cardinals.

By His Absence

Another usual marksman played a big role in the Green Bay Southwest Gym but this time it was by his absence. Dave Froistad, the Trojans' deadly outside gunner, sat out the game with illness and Troy suffered a 71-46 thrashing from Appleton West.

Preble took a halftime lead trying to gather its first victory of the season but Sheboygan South rallied in the second half on its own court to take a 75-53 decision.

DeYoung, a slick junior notched 12 baskets and 19 free throws in his spree, the charity mark tying the conference record for one game. The record was set by Preble coach Jerry Hopfensperger when he played for Appleton against Manitowoc in 1953.

The Red Devil ace hit 13 of his first 14 tries from the line and wound up with 19 for 23.

Lead at Gun

Southwest was in the game only for the first quarter. Appleton West broke from a 5-5 tie midway in the opening period and had a 14-10 lead at the gun.

The Trojans failed to make a single field goal in the second quarter and by halftime the count was 34-14 and the verdict was no longer in doubt.

The Terrors simply ganged up on Gary Ecke, holding him to only five shots in the first half, of which he made just one. Ecke was the Trojans' big threat with Froistad sidelined and he managed only seven points for the game. Like his mates, he just couldn't get the ball off or hit with any consistency, a tribute to the Terror defense.

Keith Goldschmidt, who hit 30 points in one game last week, could mesh only four baskets in 14 shots, leaving the high scoring honors for the team to John Vogel with 16.

As a team, Southwest shot only 25 per cent and was killed on the boards and in the turnover department until the final three and a half minutes when the Terror reserves moved into action.

Lawrence Tops Scots, 75-67

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Lawrence University Vikings spurted for eight straight points in the opening moments of the second half and breezed to a 75-67 triumph over game but cold-shooting Monmouth at Alexander Gym Friday night.

The victory evened the Vikes Midwest Conference record at 3-3, while the Scots slumped to a 4-3 mark in the circuit. Monmouth has now lost three MC tilts in succession after winning their first four starts.

Knox, a surprise 75-72 victor over Ripon Friday night, invades Alexander Gym for a 1:30 p.m. engagement today against Lawrence.

Forward Mike Andrews was the big gun for the Vikings, pumping home 23 points, including 14 in the second half. Steady Bob Townsend contributed 17 and Brian Bock hit 14. Keith Koppen fired in 22 for the Scots and Don Campbell added 16.

Hit 25 of 36

Actually out-goaled from the floor by a 27-25 margin, the Vikes used sharpness at the free throw line to come away with the win. Lawrence cashed in on 25 of 36 gift attempts, while Monmouth made only 13 of 28 tries.

The visitors, too, experienced an extra-frigid night from the floor. Getting off 86 shots, the Scots hit a miserable 31.4 per cent. Lawrence needed just 53 shots and finished with a 49.1 per cent mark.

With Lawrence ahead, 31-25, the home forces put on their 8-point burst to break the game open. Bock started the fireworks with a long one-hander with 18:52 showing. In the next 1:36 Townsend hit from the baseline, Andrews rammed in a rebound, and Andrews drilled another from the corner to make the Vike advantage 14 points at 39-25.

The visitors from Illinois were able to come back with a streak of their own as Harold King hit a pair of jumpers and Campbell potted a corner shot and added a free throw. That made it 39-32, but Monmouth was not to come any closer thereafter.

Bock and Andrews combined for five more quick points and the Vikes were not in danger again. The Lawrence quint built its lead to 16 points on five occasions the first at 54-38 with 9:05 left to go. The game took on rout proportions as the Vikes went up, 70-52, with 2:00 left.

Carpenter Shifts To Falcons' Head Offensive Post

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons have promoted Lew Carpenter, an assistant coach, to head offensive coach. He was receiver coach last year.

The move frees Coach Norb Hecker to oversee the team's entire operation. Last year he worked mostly on offense.

The shift is part of a realignment of the Falcon coaching staff. The Falcons are expected to hire a new receiver coach.

Munson Says He Might Be Traded

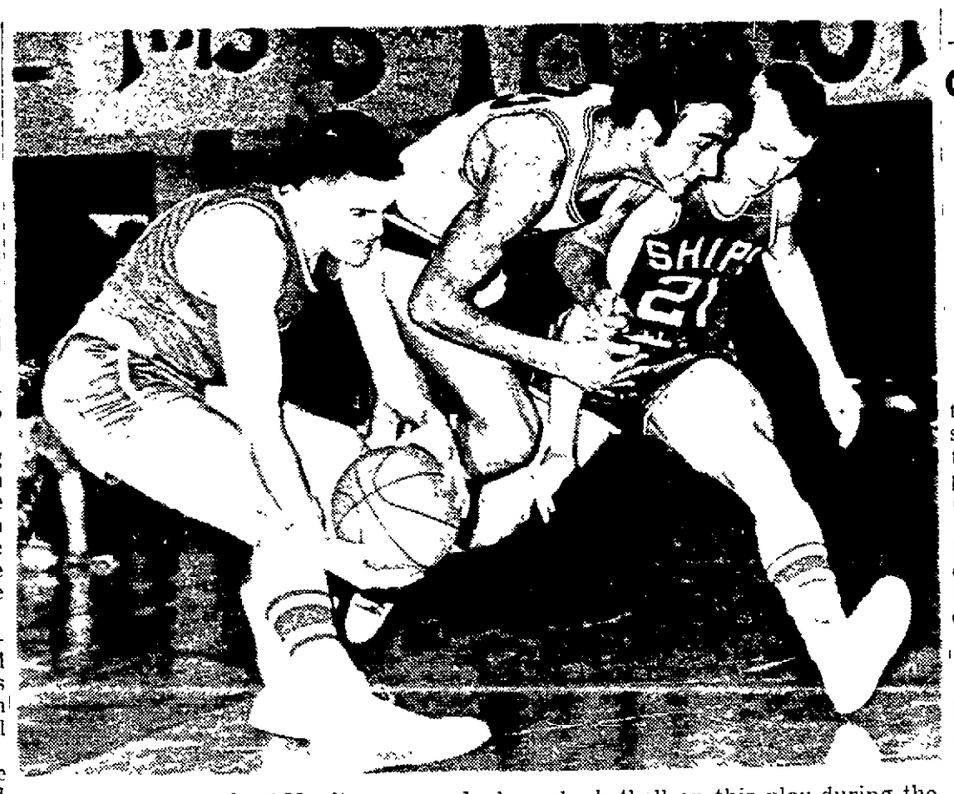
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Munson has announced what Los Angeles Ram football fans expected since the beginning of football practice last spring — that he might be traded before the 1968 National Football League season.

"I don't want to leave," Munson said, "but I feel I have to make my move."

Munson, 26, was a starting quarterback for the Rams in 1964 and 1965 with impressive credentials. A knee operation put him out of action for the last four games of 1965 and he never regained his starting role from Roman Gabriel.

Munson played the 1967 season without a contract and will be a free agent by May. Unless the Rams trade him, Munson will then be able to make a deal for himself.

Munson said Thursday the Rams made him "a pretty good deal" to remain with the club. But Munson said many times last year he wanted to play first string for an NFL team.



The Quick Hands of Manitowoc guard Bill Sepnafski (left) beat Appleton East's Cliff Tierney (center) and Ship teammate Dick Rosinskey (21) to the loose basketball on this play during the game in the East gym Friday night. Manitowoc edged the Patriots, 70-67, for their 13th consecutive win.

State's Top 3 Teams in Narrow Wins

Chiefs Win in Overtime

Winneconne Nips Omro, 66-65 to Take Lead in Little Nine

Getting two pressure free throws from Jeff Allen with 34 seconds remaining, Winneconne took over sole possession of first place in the Little Nine Conference by defeating Omro, 66-65.

Friday night's battle of the league's leading, once-beaten clubs threatened to be a runaway midway through the third quarter when the Wolves constructed a 13-point lead. But Omro shaved the margin to six by the end of the period and kept the heat on until the final horn.

The victory bettered Winneconne's conference mark to 8-1, while Omro dropped into a second place tie with Reedsville at 7-2

Brillion Loses

Reedsville's Panthers knocked off Brillion, 78-66, and Shiocton edged Hortonville in overtime, 75-73, in other games involving first division teams. Denmark tripped Freedom, 86-76, and Hilbert whipped Wrightstown, 73-51, to round out the schedule

Winneconne jumped off to a 14-7 lead over Omro and put another point on the margin at halftime, taking a 35-27 edge at intermission.

After the Wolves shot ahead by as much as 13, Omro caught fire late in the third stanza and trailed by only six at the end of the frame, 53-47. Winneconne led by margins of three and five points much of the final eight minutes, and were up 64-61 with 34 seconds left to play

Wade Hits 23

Allen then sank his clutch charities, but the Foxes' Randy Wade and John Hoeft countered in the remaining seconds to come within one at the buzzer. Wade topped all scorers with 23 points, while John Hoeft put in 15.

Jeff Selle, who dominated the evening's rebounding, paced Winneconne with 18, followed by Bob Poehlman's 17. The Wolves' quick-handed Russ Flanigan did an excellent job in breaking the Omro press.

Reedsville wiped out a 3-point Brillion first quarter lead with a 22-point second period and went on to give the Lions their fourth loss of the season.

Leading 37-36 at half, the Panthers increased the margin to 10 points after three periods and coasted home. Brillion's Stan Peipenburg led all shooters with 23, while Reedsville's Jay Barnard hit 22. Russ Hansen and Steve Zirbel each added 16 for their respective clubs.

Four points apiece from Tom Dey and Dan Gast in the overtime period boosted Shiocton over upset-minded Hortonville.

Tied 67-67 after four quarters, Shiocton took an early lead in the overtime and led all the way with Gast and Dey doing all the scoring. Hortonville had sent the game into the extra period with 50 seconds left in the fourth quarter.

Gary Johnson's 23 points and Gast's 22 paced the Chiefs, while Marley Conradt chipped in 16. Jerry Warning with 20 and Dave Riggles with 17 topped the Polar Bears.

Roberts Hits 39

Denmark, leading virtually the entire game, got a 30-point night from John Roberts and stormed past Freedom. The Vikings led 36-31 at halftime, and shooting 70 per cent from the floor in the second half, were never in serious trouble.

Wayne Krueger and Tom Umentum contributed 20 and 16 points respectively for Denmark. Don Baumgart's 17 and Lee Garvey's 16 paced the Irish.

Hilbert outscored Wrightstown in every quarter to record its third triumph of the league season. The Wolves led at half by 14, 38-24.

Larry Edinger of Wrightstown led all scorers with 18 markers. Joe Weinreis with 15 and Mike Rossmeier with 14 topped Hilbert.

Proxmire Asks Ban on Unwanted Insurance On Credit Payments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says he'll ask Congress to prevent department stores from charging customers for unrequested credit life insurance on unpaid bills.

Proxmire and other congressmen recently protested a plan by Montgomery Ward & Co. to bill customers for such credit life insurance unless the customers refused this in writing. The insurance would pay off any unpaid bill were the customer to die or became disabled.

The senator suggested the ban be attached to a credit disclosure bill now pending before the House Rules Committee after Senate passage last year.

the Trucker's over-all shooting percentage for the night, as they hit on only 15 of 60 shots for a meager 25 per cent.

Hagany set the scoring pace for the winners as he hit eight field goals and six free throws for 22 points. Wildenberg added 12 and Vanden Heuvel 10.

Mark Paape was high for Clintonville with 16, followed by Wayne Shepard with 10.

Not only did the victory enable Kimberly to remain in contention for the M-E crown, but it also strengthened a grip on the runner-up spot in the league by virtue of third-place Menasha's loss to Neenah.

The loss dropped Clintonville's M-E mark to 3-6.

center Bill Vanden Hoogen with 3:15 left in the third quarter when he was banished from the game and given a flagrant technical foul (two throws) for hitting Appleton's Ade Dillon.

But the officials, John Thome and Vern Wollerman, further confused the issue with what they later admitted was a mistake on the call. Vanden Hoogen had a drive for the basket and was hooked on the arm by Dillon, who dragged both of them to the floor in the process. That's when Vanden Hoogen, already frustrated by the way the game was going, rapped Dillon.

In the mixup, Vanden Hoogen wound up being charged with the original foul and Dillon was awarded a free throw. Obviously, if Vanden Hoogen had been guilty and the officials admitted later the call should have been against Dillon, it would have been an offensive foul with the ball going to Appleton out of bounds. As it was, Dillon made his free throw and Tom Hintz made one of the two technical throws.

It didn't really affect the game but it helped Hintz to a 32 point performance for the night. Included in his spree were seven straight baskets in the third quarter.

Vikings Beat Scots, 75-67 In MC Game

before Monmouth rallied against a flood of substitutions.

The Vikes could owe much of their success to their tough defensive game throughout. Lawrence started in a 1-2-2 zone, shifted to a 1-3-1 later, and back to a 1-2-2 once more. Koppen was the only Scot able to hit from the outside and his shooting wasn't consistent enough to bring the Vikes out of the zone alignments.

Little Trouble

Lawrence, on the other hand, was able to pierce the Scots' man-for-man in the first half and actually had little trouble with the Monmouth zone press in the second 20 minutes.

Never behind and tied only once at 3-3 in the first three minutes, Lawrence dominated the first half but could't pull away. A tip-in by Mike Andrews of Bock's missed lay-up gave the Vikes a 5-3 lead and needed momentum.

Lawrence raced to a 13-4 advantage after that but the Scots whittled it back to 21-19 by the 7-minute mark. But then Bock came back with another long one-hander and ignited the home forces to a 31-23 lead at the half, setting the stage for Lawrence's burst at the start of the second half.

began. Mark Eastwood of the Rockets and Dave Zimmerman exchanged long shots for another three-point spread (52-49).

Gressler Fouls Out

Then things went dark for the Menashans as Jankowski hooped a jump shot on a play in which Gressler garnered his fifth foul. Better than six minutes remained to be played.

"Big Dan" missed the free throw but cashed in on another a few seconds later. Then Jankowski was fouled again, this time Conway getting his fifth. He failed on both but the Bluejay bench was assessed with a technical and Lee Olson made the point for a 56-49 score.

Next came a layup by Dale Magedanz, a set shot by Eastwood and another basket by Magedanz for 62-49. After Ted Blohm hit on a long shot for the Jays, Blank made two in a row for a 15-point spread with 2:20 left.

Most of the remaining minutes were spent shooting free throws and Menasha scored seven of the last 11 points.

Jankowski picked off game scoring honors with 20 points. Blank had 18 and Magedanz 11. Gressler totaled 17, Taves 12 and Conway 11 for the losers.

The box score:

Ships Thwart East Bid for Major Upset

drilled in all of his first-half shots (six) and finished with a 7-for-13 night from the field, while Jones was 6-for-10.

Bob Meyer added 13 points. George Mills was 3-for-3 from the floor in a strong fireman's role and finished with seven points, as did Blane Reichelt.

The score was knotted nine times during a highly-charged first half that kept a nearly full house of fans in the new Patriot gym cheering.

Break Tie

Refusing to concede a thing to the highly-favored Ships, the Bill Morse-coached Patriots broke a 23-all tie midway in the second period and spurted, behind the scoring of Stach and Jones, to a 29-24 lead. Then, the full-court press, which Manty used for most of the game, started to take its toll in East turn-overs.

The Ships, with Hansen doing most of the damage, went on a spree of their own and outscored the Patriots 13 to 0, in a 2:45 segment to fashion a 37-29 lead. Hansen came out of a melee with the ball to plunk it through for a tie-breaking (31-29), goal, with 2:46 left in the half. Manty never trailed again, although it was tied, at 64, in the home stretch.

The Ships' halftime lead stood at five (39-34). During the first 13½ minutes of the second half, the Patriots continued their deliberate style of attack, seeking — and often finding — chinks in the Ships' zone defense. But the hosts continued to trail the invaders by margins ranging from five to nine points.

The game's complexion changed abruptly as reserve Mills triggered the late comeback with a short-range goal. The Manty lead was down to six (64-58). Meyer sank a pair of free throws, with 1:55 left, and the Patriots turned on a press that bothered the Ships. Jones connected from in front of the basket and East trailed by only two, with 1:40 left.

Jones then deflected a Manty pass, which was hauled down by a teammate and East went to work on its tying basket. Mills did the honors on a nifty corner shot, and the count stood at 64-all, with 1:06 remaining. Sepnafski, however, took center-stage to keep the Ships in the unbeaten class.

Manty had a slight shooting edge from the floor — 27 of 57 for .474, compared to 45.1 per cent for East (on 23 of 51). East sank 21 of 28 free throws, while the Ships made 16 of 25.

MANITOWOC (13-26-14-17—70) — Haag 5-9-4, Trastek 6 1 2, Hansen 9 4 4; Rosinsky 1 0 1; Sepnafski 4 2 4; Walsh 2 0 1, Mertz 0 0 1. Totals 27 16 17. FTM — 9.

County's Fate Being Studied

Menominee Decision Goes to Legislature At Next Session

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — State officials are beginning to ponder their statutory responsibility for resolving the political fate of Menominee County, the state's newest and smallest, in preparation for the convening of the Legislature next year.

When the Legislature, following the federal government's action in terminating the maintenance of the Menominee Indians on a U. S. reservation, created a separate county in 1959, it did so with some uncertainty that the small and economically distressed district could compose a viable governmental community. Thus it decreed that 10 years later the legislature would re-examine the status of the one-time Indian tribe and make a permanent decision about its political organization. The alternatives then discussed included a separate county, or attachment to one of the surrounding political districts, such as Shawano, Langlade or Oconto counties.

Sen. Reuben LaFave, R-Oconto, chairman of a Menominee Indian study committee set up as a permanent overseer and adviser to the county, says he has arranged a conference here in February with Gov. Warren Knowles for a discussion of the county's future.

LaFave said he will ask the governor to support a petition to the state board of government operations for an appropriation to hire a research staff that can prepare a reliable report on the county's problems, prospects and needs for the guidance of the 1969 legislative session.

Menasha Girl Is Slightly Injured In Two Car Crash

Linda Hoelzel, 17, 420 Nicolet Blvd., Menasha, suffered minor glass cuts on her left arm when the car she was in was involved in an accident about 10:20 p.m. Friday at Grandview and North Roads, west of Appleton.

Outagamie County police identified the drivers of the cars as Gary L. Roberts, 19, 214 S. State St., and Elaine D. Meyer, route 2, Appleton. Damage to the two vehicles totaled about $300.

Police said the Roberts auto was northbound on North Road and started to slide on a turn when it collided with the eastbound Meyer auto.

Judge Reopens Murder Probe

Grand Jury to Meet At Fond du Lac; Indictment Possible

FOND DU LAC — Reopening of a grand jury investigation into the murder of a Chicago man near Kewaskum last fall was ordered here Friday by County Judge Hazen W. McEssy.

The jury spent a full week behind closed doors in mid-December probing the death of Herbert L. McKinney, 28, who was found in a remote farm dump about 16 miles southwest of here.

McKinney had been beaten about the face and shot through the head.

The grand jury had been called and more than 40 witnesses testified after a police investigation failed to turn up enough evidence to prompt a warrant, although authorities had suspects.

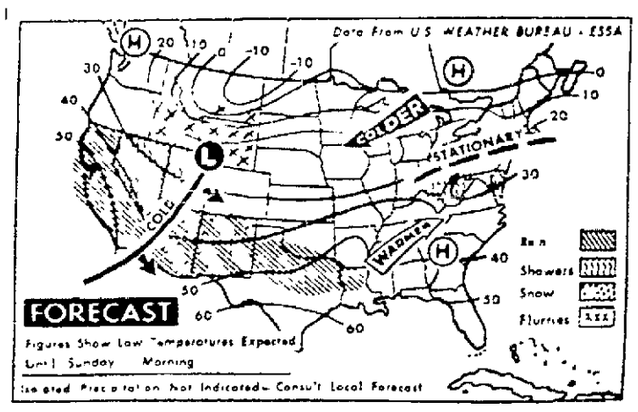
Perjury Possible?

While some legal questions developed during the hearing, it was learned members of the 18-man panel considered the possibility of asking the district attorney to issue perjury warrants against several witnesses.

Judge McEssy said he was calling together all attorneys who participated or testified during the hearing before reconvening the jury to deliberate whether or not to issue an indictment.

Should an indictment be made next week, arrests would be made immediately.

The grand jury was the first ever to be called in Fond du Lac County. Several witnesses took the Fifth Amendment.



Rain and Showers Will Spread through California into Arizona and New Mexico, mixing with snow in those states tonight. More rain is expected in Texas, with snow in Idaho and Wyoming and showers over Ohio. It will be colder in the Great Lakes area and warmer in the Mid-Atlantic coastal states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Appleton Youth Receives Probation for Offenses

Restitution totaling $191.98 was ordered Friday for a 15-year-old Appleton youth who appeared in Outagamie County Juvenile Court on a list of offenses that included car theft and shoplifting.

Judge Raymond P. Dohr found the youth delinquent and placed him under supervision of the Outagamie County Department of Social Services for one year. The restitution is to be made by the parents.

About $150 of the restitution is for the boy's share of damage done to three cars that were stolen Sept. 8 from Car City, 1930 W. College Ave.

Joseph Vander Oever, Outagamie County sheriff's investigator, testified in court that the 15-year-old was one of several youths who stole the three cars. The boy later was involved in a police chase that ended on State 96 when he and his passenger leaped from the vehicle while it was still moving.

$800 Damage

Two of the stolen cars sustained about $800 damage when the youths rammed them together in the Einstein Junior High School parking lot. One car was abandoned in a field near Plamann Park and the other was run into a corn field west of Appleton.

Vanden Oever testified that the boy also was involved in taking a car Sept. 5 from Cloud Buick Co. Inc., 245 W. College Ave. The 1957 auto was abandoned on State 96, east of Appleton, and three boys fled into a field where they were caught by police.

Det. George Weaver of the Appleton Police Department's juvenile bureau, testified the northside youth, a junior high school student, was involved in a fight at Wilson Junior High School Oct. 3; was with another youth when damage was done to a rest room at the school Nov. 17, and stole a box of candy Oct. 5 from the A&P Store, 338 W. College Ave.

On Sept. 9, the boy's father reported him as a runaway from home. Weaver said the youth admitted that on several occasions, he and other youths stole clothing items from downtown stores, then had someone else return the items for cash refunds.

County Names Process Server

Kimberly Man Gets Post Recently Made Fulltime

A 47-year-old Kimberly man gained final approval by the Outagamie County Board's law enforcement committee Friday as the first full-time sheriff's department process server.

Expected to start the new job soon is Lawrence M. DeGroot, 223 S. Kimberly Ave., who has been in insurance sales. A Kimberly native, DeGroot graduated from high school there. He served in the U.S. Air Force.

The new process server is the father of five children.

He was one of approximately 20 applicants for the $5,500-a-year job created recently by county board action. There had been considerable controversy over qualifications of job applicants and duties that will be assigned the process server.

Sheriff Norbert Marx indicated long ago that he wanted a man who could be trained to aid the investigative staff, but the law enforcement committee made it clear that he would be confined strictly to process serving duties.

However, there was some discussion at Friday's meeting about training the process servier to do some of the clerical work in the sheriff's office.

In other committee business Friday, Marx, at the committee's request, outlined the progress being made by his men into investigation of the shotgun slaying Jan. 20 of Martin J. Jansen Jr., night janitor at Cloud Buick Co., Inc.

Divorce Is Granted

Terry L. Besaw, 26, 930 W. Brewster St., Appleton, was divorced in Outagamie County Court Branch 3, by Sharon L. Besaw, 23, Anchorage, Alaska.

Mrs. Besaw charged cruel and inhuman treatment. The couple had no children. A property settlement was approved.

Pastors for Unity Service Are Selected

Participants in the Festival of Prayer for Unity service, scheduled for 8 p.m. Sunday at Lawrence Chapel, have been announced.

The Rev. Willard McKinnon, pastor of St. Bernadette Church and president of the Appleton Area Clergymen's Association, the sponsoring organization, will give the invocation.

Litany of unity will be read by the Rev. Kenneth Engelman, pastor of First Methodist Church and the speaker will be presented by the Rev. James Brown, curate at All Saints' Episcopal Church.

The Rev. John Bowe, pastor of Kimberly Presbyterian Church, will be in charge of the presentation of the offering while the Rev. Christian Thearle, pastor, Trinity Lutheran, will give the benediction.

This will be the first time laymen will take a part in the service.

Harley O. Barney, a member of Trinity, and Maurice Cunningham, a member of St. Bernard Catholic congregation, will present the scripture readings.

"The Next Step in Ecumenism" is the title of the sermon, which will be brought by the Rev. Dr. Arthur Vogel, noted ecumenist and a professor at Nashotah House, an Episcopal seminary.

$607,000 Appropriated

HUD Okays Water Grant for Appleton

Official approval of a $607,600 water plant expansion grant for Appleton was announced in Washington today by U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

It is the second federal aid package to be approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to assist the city with a $4.5 million water expansion program.

Last August HUD approved a $692,300 grant to assist Appleton in one of two phases of the water project which will be an addition to the filtration plant, and a pipeline to Lake Winnebago.

Two weeks ago HUD officials in Washington had been contacted and gave assurance the city's application for funds would be approved and the processing remained.

Grants Total

The two grants total $1,499,700 for the major public works program schedule to get underway this spring or summer.

Originally, HUD denied both applications but Nelson and Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, were instrumental in getting federal officials to reconsider. Working through Appleton city officials and engineers, they produced the necessary data to justify the grants.

Regional and state planning officials also supported Appleton's case for federal aid.

Higher Quality

The project will increase both quality and quantity of the water Appleton has been able to produce and will result in abandonment of the Fox River as a source.

"I am highly gratified that Appleton has now received the necessary grants after months of effort in winning approval to help the city with its pressing water problem," Nelson declared.

It is assumed HUD is making a funding reservation so Appleton will receive certification in the near future that the money is available for application to offset the cost of the multi-million dollar water program.

"From here on in it will be full speed ahead," was the comment of Public Works Director Frank Keuler, when informed of HUD's action. Mayor George Buckley and other city officials were not available for comment.

Laid Groundwork

After receiving word earlier in the month that funds would be approved, city officials started laying groundwork to get the long-delayed project in motion.

As a result, a meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. Tuesday at city hall for city officials and representatives of the Appleton Water Department.

Engineers from Consoer Townsend and Associates, Chicago, one of two firms working on the water expansion also will attend the meeting. It has the contract for planning the pipeline from the water plant to Lake Winnebago.

Alvord, Burdick and Housen, also of Chicago, is planning the addition to the filtration plant.

"We intend to coordinate the many things that have to be carried out before the city will be in a position to advertise for bids," Keuler said.

The city needs to obtain rights to one piece of property off the shore of Lake Winnebago, along with permits from the Town of Harrison and the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission has already approved the project.

Used With Some Transistors

Search On for 'Killer' Devices

NEENAH - MENASHA — A warning issued to users of nine volt battery operated transistor radios that a device they might possess or purchase is a killer from Robert Baker, director of the City of Oshkosh's department of services, launched a hunt for such devices here Friday

Baker said his department learned Thursday that a device called a converter-eliminator, used to enable the owner or user of a nine-volt battery operated transistor to change the radio's power by plugging into a 110-volt household outlet and being sold in the City of Oshkosh could be a killer

Experimenting with three such converters, which do not bear the familiar UL stamp, or Underwriters' Laboratory seal, inspector Roland Felix, found that when plugging in the converter, the open jack on the radio set, had enough director power to light up a 100-watt light bulb.

If the jack would be touched by a person operating the radio on house current, using such a converter, and another part of his body touched a grounded surface, he could be killed, Baker said

The converters purchased and tested by Baker's Department Thursday were both the size of a nine-volt battery and sold under the trade names Valiant and Universal, he said

This morning a third, bearing the name Glol-Imp, was purchased and tested. "It not only lit up the light bulb when we touched the open jack, but when we placed it on the aerial as well," Baker said

NM Stores

Twenty-five stores which sell transistor radios and components and wholesale outlets in the Neenah-Menasha area were checked today to see if they handled any one of the three converters, all of Japan manufacture

None of the named converters were to be found

Howard Hoppe, electrical inspector for the City of Menasha, said that he would carefully check the city ordinances to see "if we can enforce the Underwriters Laboratory listing.

"Until this is determined, however, I urge that anyone living here who has purchased one of these converters check with me at the Water and Light Utility, service department, if there are any questions."

Stuart Monard, City of Neenah electrical inspector, added, "We will check this out immediately. Meanwhile, if anyone is using a converter which does not carry the UL approval, I suggest that he check it with his radio repair man."

Converters with "the red hot ground" are lethal if a person touches the open jack, and then touches a water faucet, ground metal trim, a sink, bathtub, stove, refrigerator, or similar grounded surface.

"While they are not, apparently, on the market here, they could be gifts or purchases from other parts of the country," Hoppe pointed out as he reemphasized extreme caution.

Noted Clergyman's View

Ecumenism's Aim Is Christian Unity

NASHOTAH — Ecumenism is a program to activate Christianity. It does not necessarily call for uniformity, but rather unity of the Christian communities.

This definition of the sweeping worldwide movement to help pull Christian families together, was offered by the Rev. Dr. Arthur A. Vogel, a noted ecumenist and a professor of theology at Nashotah House, an Episcopal seminary.

Goal is to Enrich

Dr. Vogel will be the featured speaker at the Festival of Prayer for Unity, 8 p.m Sunday at the Lawrence Chapel. The event is sponsored by the Appleton Area Clergymen's Association.

"Often people are wary of ecumenicity because they feel they will have to give up their denominational beliefs," Dr. Vogel said.

"But the ultimate goal is not to take away anything but rather to enrich — to make room for as much freedom of expression in worship as the revealed truth of Christianity will allow," he explained.

In the interview with the Episcopal author-professor, he briefly outlined the short history of the current movement.

There were some attempts at unification in the 1940's and some results, which did not receive a great deal of publicity, he said.

At present there are about 27 schemes for unification in as many countries, he added.

Dr. Vogel attributes a great deal of success of the present movement to the efforts of Pope John XXIII.

"His purpose, of course, was church renewal, but renewal, by its very nature, eventually leads to the ecumenical quest," the Anglican theologian said.

Crucial Years Ahead

Asked what he felt would be the result of the current quest, the minister said that it is difficult to predict anything but that the next few years would be the crucial ones which could turn the movement in either direction.

"There are too many factors to make a prediction," Dr. Vogel said.

"However, it is important to note that more differences have been discussed in this short time than would have been even thought possible five years ago," said Dr. Vogel who, as a member of the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations of the Episcopal Church, has sat in on many discussions.

According to him, there are two areas of endeavor in the present movement for unity. One has to be worked out at the conference table, the other in the local congregations.

"It is the method of authority that is the problem," he said. "It is this which the church leaders must work out at the conference table.

"Response to human needs should be an occasion of Christian unity," he added.

Work for Common Goal

One way for the laymen as well as the ministers, to get together is to work together for a common goal, he feels.

The theologian listed examples of present day cooperation, which included the urban crises and the mutual support in fighting poverty here and abroad.

"The problem with the latter endeavor, however, is that when people work together on a practical project, they tend to forget that they are doing this as Christians, not just as people who want to help others," he said.

"After all," Dr. Vogel added, "one doesn't have to be a Christian to help others."

These practical efforts, he feels, can help Christianity and the ecumenical movement only if the people realize that the things they are doing are done in the name of Christianity.

"But it is through these two basic methods that we hope to establish guidelines by which people could live together in closer union without compromising their own Christian convictions," Dr. Vogel concluded.

Blast From Buckley

Knowles Hit Again For Stand on ETV

Gov. Warren P. Knowles continued to come under heavy fire from critics in the Fox Cities today for his handling of the latest proposal by the Legislature to locate an educational television station here

Mayor George Buckley of Appleton was among the latest to take the governor to task verbally, following on the heels of a sharp blast leveled by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, earlier in the week.

On Tuesday, the governor signed the bill which would create a statewide educational television network (ETV) and locate one of four stations in the Appleton area to serve the Fox Valley.

However, Knowles then sent a letter to the board which will handle the project, and questioned whether a TV station could be located in Appleton since the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) had not allocated a channel for ETV in Appleton, while it had done so for Green Bay.

"I feel the same as Assemblyman Froehlich on this matter," Buckley declared, repeating the legislator's statement that, "About the only conclusion to be arrived at is that it looks like the governor doesn't want to admit that Appleton exists."

Buckley inferred that Knowles has been playing politics with the Appleton and Fox Cities area for sometime.

"I just can't see the governor's constant ignoring of this city when it comes to getting any type of a state facility," Buckley declared, asking, "What's his reasoning on these matters, anyway?"

Buckley volunteered the opinion that he felt Gov. Knowles was taking this area for granted.

"The governor is giving the impression that he is so sure of always getting votes in the Appleton area that he doesn't feel the need to do anything for us," Buckley said.

Slap in the Face

". . .The governor's total lack of encouragement seemed to be a direct slap in the face of every citizen in the Fox Cities area," was the critical comment of Frank E. Drexler, 1406 S. Telulah Ave., president of Fox Cities Community Television.

Drexler's group has been giving serious consideration to starting a UHF station here to serve the Fox Cities, and intends to start an engineering survey soon.

Drexler noted that on Jan 15 the governor acknowledged a resolution sent him by the Appleton City Council asking the new area ETV station be constructed in the Fox Cities area.

"It was obvious at that time that the governor did not support the Fox Cities in its bid for the area educational television station," Drexler said.

Drexler, putting in a plug for his group's project, said it would appear the only way Appleton will get a television station of any kind is to "build one ourselves."

Girls Uninjured In Ripon College Dormitory Blaze

RIPON — A mid-morning fire Friday swept the second floor of Hughes House, a special experimental dormitory at Ripon College. No one was reported injured.

Fire Chief Walter Trampf said the fire apparently started from a cigarette that had fallen into a wastebasket or bedlinen. There was no evidence of electrical difficulties.

Hughes House, until last May, was home to the college president, but when his new quarters were completed, the historic landmark was converted into an experimental dormitory for 16 freshmen girls.

According to the house counselor, Bonnie MacDougall, the girls attended three of their four classes in the dormitory as a part of the community living experiment.

Damage to the landmark, located at Seward and Watson streets, was estimated at $20,000.

A Neenah freshman, Susan Thompson, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, 619 Kessler Drive, managed to escape the fire in a bathrobe, but lost all her belongings in the blaze.

Speaker Lauds Romney

'Nation Declines Under LBJ'

"Under LBJ we face the serious threat of decline of our nation.

"If a Republican doesn't win, we will continue down the road of decline and fall like the Greek, Roman and British empires."

This was the dismal picture drawn by William McLaughlin, vice chairman of the Michigan Republican Party, speaking to Outagamie Young Republicans Thursday night.

This was the second in a series of three speakers discussing the talents of the three top Republican presidential candidates. A California Gov. Ronald Reagan supporter spoke to the group in December and a Richard Nixon man is expected to speak Feb. 23.

The man who could do the job is Mich. Gov. George Romney, a man who has proved his ability and electability in Michigan since 1962, McLaughlin said.

"We need a man in the White House who will be believed when he speaks because he speaks the truth," he stated. "We don't need a man who plays politics and acts to keep his popularity when our nation is in such serious trouble."

He cited several problem areas, including Vietnam conflict, city riots and crime.

McLaughlin also contended that Romney could build the sagging Republican Party back into a major political power as he had done in Michigan between 1961 and 1968.

"We are not the major party today," he warned.

"We need a man who can build it from the grassroots up," he said.

He cited Romney's Michigan record where he began building for the 1962 election, which he won by 90,000 votes, and continued with a 1964 victory with a 380,000 plurality.

"He won by 530,000 votes in 1966," McLaughlin said. "But more important he captured the imagination of the people in the cities and built strong support among ethnic groups and Negroes."

Value to GOP

McLaughlin cited another example of Romney's value to the GOP. The governor carried five congressmen, five state senators, 18 assemblymen and a U.S. senator along with him to victory, he said.

McLaughlin lauded the sound management ability of Romney, whom he noted had saved American Motors Corporation, Kenosha, from fiscal failure.

"George Romney has applied sound management to state spending and he will use the same approach in the White House," McLaughlin promised, adding that this is a major weakness in the present administration and a major cause of America's troubles.

McLaughlin stated his candidate's position on several issues during questioning:

— He does not believe legislation is the complete answer to the city riots; he feels we must get to the root of the problems causing the rioting.

Not Getting Truth

— The "brainwash" incident hurt him at the time; it was an unfortunate use of a word. But he only meant that he and the nation were not getting the truth about Vietnam.

— He has been accused of hedging in press sessions because he is honest and doesn't make statements unless he is completely sure on what he is speaking.

"I think he made a beautiful statement the other day," McLaughlin noted. "He told the press, 'I'm not hedging: I don't have all the answers.'"

Dianne Rieder has been chosen by the faculty of Stockbridge High School to receive the DAR award for outstanding citizenship. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Rieder, route 1, Chilton.

Farm Bureau Leader Decries Federal Pricing and Control

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post Crescent Farm Editor

OSHKOSH — The American farmer should be freed of the shackles imposed by 33 years of federal control programs which have left him at the bottom of the economic ladder, Percy Hardiman, president of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau, told the Lakeshore Kiwanis Club here Thursday night.

Hardiman, however, favored a gradual phasing-out of the programs.

He contended the federal government, which has been pouring from $1 billion to $4.5 billion into farm programs every year during this period, could save $2 billion by permanently reserving land and removing it from food production until needed by future generations.

Hardiman cited four instances since 1960 where the government lifted crop planting restrictions, encouraged heavy acreage, ended up buying the bumper crop surplus from the farmer and later dumped it on the market to break the price.

The latest example has been the soybean industry which is faced with a heavy surplus and growing imports, he said.

Need Help

Farmers need the help of their urban neighbors and congressmen in reversing the trend especially since their once-strong bloc has diminished to 5 per cent of the total population.

Hardiman charged that it was economically unsound to price production politically. "You can't ever find the right price," he warned. "Competition sets the price so farmers should be given a chance to run their affairs," he said.

He promised a "good cat and dog fight" in Congress over the federal farm programs which are due to expire in 1969.

He took exception with Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman's proposal for a national bargaining board over which Freeman would have veto power. "Why can't we sit down man to man with the processor and work out our differences?," he challenged.

Cites Efforts

In contrast he cited Farm Bureau's efforts in the vegetable marketing field in the past few years. Prices in Wisconsin increased $4 million. The effort started in 1960 with the Farm Bureau negotiating with processors for its member producers. The agency now operates in 32 states.

This year the Farm Bureau broke into the broiler industry and anticipates making significant advances, he said.

"How far would our economy be if 50 per cent of the U.S. population had to be engaged in agriculture like in Russia?" he asked. Hardiman stressed that 4.6 per cent of the American population is producing an over abundance of food.

"Farm Bureau believes in the freedom of the individual. We feel the country flourishes best this way," he said. The farm organization has no membership by checkoff, he explained. Each year a member has a chance to judge if his organization is worthwhile and decide if he wants to pay the $15 membership fee.

All businessmen are invited to attend as well as anyone who is interested in the downtown improvement.

Donald Knodle, an architect associated with a Beloit firm, will show slides of main street improvements in other communities. Discussion will follow to explore the probability of local downtown improvement.

The mayor said that if a plan of action is developed, he probably would appoint block captains and committees that night to follow through on it.

'Confession' Discounted By Authorities

Man, Arrested in De Pere, Claimed He Killed Jansen

A Combined Locks man who told Brown County police Thursday night that it was he who killed Martin J. Jansen Jr., 34, of Appleton early last Saturday has been "virtually eliminated" as a suspect, Outagamie County Sheriff Norbert J. Marx said Friday.

The man was arrested by Brown County police at the Mile-Away Tavern, on State 57, south of DePere, after he telephoned authorities and said he murdered Jansen.

The Appleton man was shot twice in the face and head with a 20 gauge shotgun at Cloud Buick Co., Inc., where he worked as a part-time night custodian. Jansen reportedly worked with the Combined Locks man at Kimberly-Clark Corp., Kimberly mill. Jansen had a full time job at the mill.

Disorderly Conduct

The man, who said he did not know why he had telephoned police and said he was the murderer, was expected to be arraigned in Brown County Court Friday on a disorderly conduct charge.

He was arrested after arguing with a woman and a man and threatening them with a shotgun at the DePere area tavern.

The man told police he went to his car to get a 20-gauge shotgun, but said he never took the gun into the tavern. Witnesses also said he did not bring the gun in.

Outagamie County investigators questioned the man extensively late Thursday night, but Marx said he felt the suspect was under the influence of alcohol when he called police.

A 20-gauge shotgun also was used in the slaying of Jansen, but authorities believe it was not the same gun that was in the Combined Locks man's car.

"We're still in the listening stage and not in the pontification stage," Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, chairman of a fact-finding task force, said in a talk at a joint meeting of Appleton and Neenah-Menasha Leagues of Women Voters.

"However," he said, "we are far enough into the study to recognize some changes which would be helpful to virtually everyone in the state."

Dr. Tarr, Lawrence University president, was appointed by Gov. Warren Knowles to head the fact-finding task force when it was authorized by the Legislature and signed into law in mid-May.

The 13-man group is studying the problems of state shared tax distribution and possibilities for local government reorganization and will make a formal report of results and recommendations next January.

Wisconsin local government, Dr. Tarr said, is highly organized, "every square inch is organized" — thus necessitating coordination where overlapping exists. "You are residents of a nation, a state, a city, town or village, a school district and possibly a special district." Using school districts as an example, he said often the assumed reason for reorganization is the elimination of costs. However, the real reason is to give "a better educational experience to the children of the district."

Another local government problem, he said, is that all cities except Milwaukee, have the same regulations for organization regardless of size or population. Milwaukee has authorized a city executive, and Dr. Tarr forsees the time when other cities also will need them. This poses a question though, he said. "Can the county executive veto actions of the county board?"

An additional problem, he commented, is that most towns follow the old government survey lines. Regardless of the population, 43 or 18,000, most towns only have an area of 36 square miles.

Tax distribution studies are a major part of the task force mission. Beginning with the present system of assessment, the Lawrence president explained that of the 1837 assessment districts in the state, most are staffed by part-time non-professionals. Local tax is based on local assessments. Most of these assessors, he said, do not have the skill to put appropriate assessments on industrial property.

Modern Accounting

Modern assessment can be compared to accounting versus bookkeeping of 100 years ago, he added. Professional and continuing assessment is needed, Dr. Tarr said, in order to give a fair and accurate valuation.

The task force already has submitted a bill, which failed to pass the Assembly, calling for consolidation of assessment districts with state help in training and hiring assessors. The bill will be re-submitted at a later date.

Other tax inequities mentioned included the so-called "tax islands" — where a small town has sufficient tax sources to preclude additional taxes, other than school, to the residents. Thus, those living in a highly residential area would pay more taxes per capita than those in industrial areas.

There are inequities, too, he said, in the corporate tax system where owners reside in an area other than their business location. Taxes are paid to the city of business location, where a portion of them are returned. Yet, none of those taxes would be returned to the city of residence.

State Involvement

Dr. Tarr foresees in the future a time of "automatic factories," resulting in large assets centered in one community with a minimum of manpower. Under the present system a small community could receive more taxes than needed, while communities of residence would be shortchanged. This is justification for state involvement in this tax question, he said.

Since the turn of the century, Dr. Tarr said, emphasizing that this was a generalization, principle highway subsidies have been in the northern part of the state. Yet, it is a fact that the northern areas are losing population. "Should we concentrate subsidies toward rural areas when the congested areas are where the problems are developing," he asked. Southeastern Wisconsin has and will have problems, he said, and this necessitates a redistribution of taxes, not just talk of new taxes.

Dr. Tarr also commented that he would like to see some federal sharing of taxes.

About 80, including several aldermen, attended the talk at the Home Mutual Insurance Co. auditorium.

Petitions Planned

Fluoridation Program Considered For New London Water System

NEW LONDON — Petitions requesting the city council to adopt an ordinance for fluoridation of the city's water will soon be circulated by Jaycees and other persons interested in the program.

Thursday the city-school health committee gave its support to fluoridation. The board unanimously favored fluoridation of the water supply.

Past discussions and scientific data were cited by the health committee. Dr. W. Monsted, city health officer, will make an investigation of the water supply and equipment needed. Dr. Monsted also will get figures on the cost of the program for presentation to the council when petitions have been completed.

Jaycee Committee

William Borchardt, Roger Pitt and Vern Otto are members of the Jaycee committee which will be circulating petitions. The committee, which was formed in March, 1967, made a study on fluoridation in prevention of tooth decay and conducted an informal meeting in October, 1967. Since that time the committee investigated the manner in which flouride could be added to the water supply.

Dr. J. V. Lawton, a local dentist, spoke at a joint Jaycee-Jaycette dinner late last year and outlined the history and benefits of flouridation.

Lawton said that a Colorado dentist discovered fluoridation in 1902. A mottling coloration of the teeth aroused the dentist's curiosity, he said.

Investigation showed that the teeth were extremely strong and relatively free of decay. Lawton said that the mottling was caused by an excessive amount of fluoride in the natural water supply and does not occur in regulated fluoridated water.

Flouride Mixture

Fluoride is mixed one part per million parts of water in an additive program, he said. While fluoridation does not benefit the adult greatly, it can be of great benefit for children, Lawton explained.

Fluoride is assimilated into the body and into the tooth structure as it develops, making the tooth decay resistant, according to Lawton. "Dental decay is tremendous — very bad in this area," he warned.

He said fluoride helps build the matrix in a tooth and that children born in communities with a proper supply of fluoride in its water will have a 50 to 70 per cent less chance of tooth decay.

Lawton said fluoridation would be quite inexpensive after the original installation of equipment. He estimated cost at 7 to 12 cents per year for each person.

"We get many wild statements from people legitimately concerned over the effects of fluoride," Lawton said. He added that there are no known ill effects and contrary to popular belief the substance does not color or put any taste in water.

Fluoridation is not a purifier such as chlorine, but a dental preventative similar to an inoculation against polio, he explained.

Baptist Church Forms Brotherhood Group

A new educational organization, the Mens Brotherhood, has been organized at the Valley Baptist Church.

The purpose of the group will be to provide missionary education for all men. An auxiliary unit, the Royal Ambassadors made up of boys from 9-17 years of age, already has begun operations.

Four other educational programs at the church are Sunday school, a training union, music ministry and womans' missionary union.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Edward M. Ginsberg of Cleveland has a faith and understanding that has made him a friend to displaced Jews throughout the world. Recently he was chosen general chairman of the United Jewish Appeal which is the major American fund-raising group for the transportation of Jewish immigrants to Israel and their resettlement there. It also provides humanitarian aid to thousands of refugees and distressed Jews in 30 other countries.

A successful corporation lawyer, Ginsberg is not just an administrative head of the organization but has traveled widely and knows firsthand the needs and frustrations of displaced persons around the world. He gives constantly of himself in travel and speaking engagements. A son of immigrant parents, he credits them with fostering his involvement in humanitarian causes. Mr. Ginsberg looks on his work as a continuance of the Jewish practice of Tzedekah —acts of kindness to the less fortunate.

He says: "I believe we are put on this earth not only for ourselves but for others. We have an obligation to make life better for others. This is translated in terms of faith. We are our brother's brother."

Maharishi Mahesh Yogi

Guru Teaches Path to Reservoir of Harmony

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — He sits, legs folded, on a white deerskin rug, a small, bearded man in a white toga with a thin, reedy voice. The rug, followers explain, is to insulate him from vibrations that would disturb his serenity.

People today, he says, need "to experience the source of thought. It is the reservoir of energy, harmony, intelligence, bliss."

And it is realized, says Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, through "transcendental meditation"—a kind of relaxed focusing of the mind on its clear, uncluttered center—a discipline he advocates to cure the world's woes.

Free of Suffering

"The answer is to let life be free from suffering," he says, adding that this freedom comes once inward meditation dispells the petty drives and circumstances that torment human beings and cause their strife.

"For world peace, we have to have peace for the individual, says the visiting Hindu teacher.

It's an esoteric message for the pragmatic West, but it is one which is gaining a widening following in this country, through numerous swamis of sundry methods, and a spreading network of meditation centers in many cities.

It's also an increasingly popular attraction in lecture halls and on college campuses, where various visiting swamis pack in the audiences.

100 Centers

Altogether there are more than 100 Hindu teaching centers in the United States, many of them started in recent years, led by swamis—Indian monks ordained to their orders, or by yogis, ascetics who have mastered the yoga technique and exercises.

They're frequently called "our guru"—which also means teacher—by followers, who includes business executives, plumbers, lawyers, doctors, professors, housewives and miniskirted secretaries.

Hinduism, an ancient, complex religion of ritual, creed and polytheism, maintains that man, entangled in the material world and blind to his inner spiritual nature, can overcome these worldly distractions by his own discipline and achieve harmony with divine reality.

Value in All

In the Hindu view, all great religions have validity. It is believed that God, at various times, reincarnates himself in material form on earth in response to human need, these incarnations include Jesus Christ, Buddha, Mohammed, and recently, Ramakrishna, who died near Calcutta in 1886.

The traveling swami who has captured the widest attention lately is Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, 56, who has influenced various celebritiês, including the Beatles, and whose highly organized East Coast appearances this month drew big turnouts.

A diminutive man, not more than 5-feet-2, with white hair, gray beard, a double strand of beads around his neck and flowers in his arms, he has a vague, relaxed way about him, and laughs often and easily.

When newsmen needled him with questions about using public relations methods to spread his teachings, he said genially, "I would use any means to take people out of their sufferings to freedom."

His approach calls for 30 minutes meditation in the morning and 30 minutes in the evening. Disciples are asked to contribute a week's salary to the movement to learn the technique.

Faithful March for Righteousness

WARNER ROBINS, Ga. (AP) — A group of ministers joined by an estimated 1,500 of their faithful sang "Onward Christian Soldiers" on the steps of City Hall recently after staging what they called a "righteousness march."

The marchers were protesting a city council decision permitting beer and wine retail sales within the city limits of this central Georgia community. The citizens carried placards bearing such legends as "I am a teetotaler for God" and "Do not destroy our youth."

Musicians Harmonize In Symphonic Discord

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There's no lack of harmony between the striking San Francisco Symphony and other noted orchestras.

San Francisco musicians, idled for seven weeks by a labor dispute with the city's Symphony Association, have received financial assistance from hundreds of fellow artists.

Edward Haug, spokesman for the San Francisco orchestra, says members of the Los Angeles Philharmonic are contributing $500 a week. Oakland Symphony Conductor Gerhard Samuel presented $504 donated by musicians on the other side of San Francisco Bay.

Zion Lutheran Names Officers

New officers of the Zion Lutheran congregation were elected at the annual meeting this week.

Serving the church council will be William Nelson, secretary; Robert Eftedahl, financial secretary; John Cotton, Gerald Shortt, councilmen for a three-year term, and David Schinie, councilman for a two-year term.

All will be installed at the 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service.

GOP Senators Rap Lack Of Protection for Pueblo

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican senators say the United States blundered by sending the Navy intelligence ship Pueblo into the area off North Korea without advance arrangements to protect her.

A top House Republican implied the same thing.

A Democratic senator agreed there should have been some "readily available protection" for the electronics ship. But he said she was on a peaceful mission and a warship escort would not have been wise.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said Friday in summing up his reaction to testimony given by Secretary of State Dean Rusk to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that "somebody blundered."

Delicate Situation

"We're in a state of semi-belligerency with North Korea and there isn't any other area in the world where we have this kind of a delicate situation," Mundt said.

"It is highly questionable whether the information the ship would be able to get justified the risk. If the information was vital, then the Pueblo should have been covered by the fleet and by air."

Sen John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., who presided at the closed-door hearing at which Rusk testified, said he thinks arrangements should have been made to summon U.S. aircraft quickly if the Pueblo got in trouble.

Peaceful Mission

"But the ship was on a peaceful mission and providing it with one or more warship escorts would not have been wise," he said.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said in a statement the capture of the ship was "an avoidable accident." He said it could have been prevented if the Navy had been prepared to take speedy protective action.

"To send poorly armed surface reconnaissance ships into dangerous waters without air cover, naval escort or emergency plans for adequate support was a serious error in judgment," he said. He called for an inquiry into the matter by the Senate Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member.

Thurmond expressed hope the carrier Enterprise, now cruising off the North Korean coast, will have adequate protection against possible submarine attack.

Laird Comment

Rep Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the Republican Conference Committee in the House, said a North Korean broadcast warned the United States early this month about use of intelligence ships such as the Pueblo.

Laird said there was no armed protection for such vessels and commented: "I thought we learned something at Pearl Harbor." He did not refer to any specific threat aginst the Pueblo.

The government has maintained such vessels aren't considered fighting ships and aren't intended to operate with armed escorts.

LBJ Using Goldwater War Tactics, McCarthy Charges

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination, says the Vietnam war is being handled the way Democrats once said Barry Goldwater would have handled it.

McCarthy, who is running in six primaries in opposition to President Johnson's war policy, told a Manchester, N.H., audience Friday:

"What we have on our hands is what we said wouldn't happen if Johnson was elected in 1964. What we're doing over there is what we said would probably be done if Barry Goldwater had been elected."

Goldwater, the GOP presidential candidate in '64, carried only five states in losing to Johnson.

McCarthy formally filed for candidacy in New Hampshire's March 12 primary. While in Concord, the state capital, he visited briefly with Gov. John W. King, a leader among state Democrats supporting Johnson for re-election.

McCarthy told a Nashua rally some state Democratic leaders "have said that you're all so well organized and so disciplined now that there would be no point in my coming in, because the people of New Hampshire vote pretty much the way their party leaders tell them to vote. I doubt whether this is true."

Elsewhere on the political scene:

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, who has garnered McCarthy's criticism for taking sides before the convention, again made clear he's for the re-election of Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Bailey told a party gathering in Des Moines, Iowa: "Make no mistake about it. I am supporting Lyndon Johnson and Hubert Humphrey."

Anyone who doubts they'll be renominated, Bailey added, "is no realist in politics."

—Michigan Gov. George Romney, candidate for the GOP nomination, continued his swing through rural New Hampshire, saying "unrealistic promises" by Johnson have bred frustration and disorder among city slumdwellers. As for the Pueblo incident, Romney said of the President: "Let's hope he makes better decisions than he's made in some past instances."

Michigan's six freshmen Republican congressmen, along with Robert P. Griffin, the state's first-term Republican senator, volunteered to help in Romney in New Hampshire.

Intermediaries Could Negotiate for Pueblo

ger to international peace "will be removed only if action is taken forthwith to secure the release of the USS Pueblo and its 83-man crew and to bring to an end the pattern of armed transgressions by North Korea against the Republic of Korea."

"This course is far more preferable to other remedies which the charter reserves to member states," Goldberg said, referring to the right of individual or collective self-defense against armed attack.

Goldberg said the Pueblo was well outside North Korea's 12-mile limit and no closer to land than 15.3 nautical miles until four North Korean patrol boats took her into Wonsan harbor. He showed her position and course on two big maps and cited North Korean radio messages on her position.

Morozov said the map show was a trick to delude the council.

Base Barraged At Khe Sanh

bombarded suspected enemy positions all night. The Communists opened up at 8:15 a.m. and Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported from Khe Sanh that three Marines were wounded in the first 12-round mortar barrage.

The Communists fired again two hours later when a four-engine C130 cargo plane landed with supplies, but missed the plane.

Marines on hill positions northeast of the base sighted enemy movement and grenade exchanges were reported.

Enemy artillery, rockets and mortars wounded 20 Leathernecks at Khe Sanh Friday.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, fighting was expected to continue throughout the Viet Cong standdown period, which began at 1 a.m.—noon Friday EST. The Communists had declared that any violation of this truce by the allies "will be punished severely," leaving the way open for them to keep shooting.

Communist forces staged an attack near Saigon just after 1 a.m. and, in one of three assaults just before that hour, turned the tables on government police who were trying to ambush them on the southwestern edge of the capital.

About 30 South Vietnamese combat policemen were lying in ambush when the guerrillas blasted their positions with bazooka-type rockets, killing five policemen and wounding five and badly damaging a nearby police station.

It was one of the rare instances in which the Viet Cong used the rockets inside the city.

The attack was not far from the main American communications center for all of South Vietnam, with direct links to Washington.

Udall Approves Wisconsin Water Quality Standard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall has confirmed earlier reports of his approval of water quality standards adopted by Wisconsin.

The state is the 12th to obtain federal approval on standards governing its interstate waters.

The Wisconsin standards call for construction of secondary treatment facilities or their equivalent by all municipalities and industries by 1970.

Wisconsin and three other states bordering Lake Michigan —Illinois, Michigan and Indiana — are to be represented at a meeting in Chicago Jan 31, headed by Udall and aimed at cleaning up the lake.

Indiana's interstate water standards received federal approval earlier.

Michigan, Illinois and the other states have submitted standards which are still under consideration by Udall's staff.

Seizure on High Seas Act Of War, Law Expert Advises

NEW YORK (AP) — A Harvard University professor of international law says that if North Korea seized the U.S. Navy intelligence ship Pueblo "on the high seas, then the United States has a right to regard it as an act of war."

But, says Prof. Milton Katz, whether the Pueblo was on the high seas or an intruder in fact in North Korea's territorial waters cannot be answered from the information generally available.

Territorial sea in international law "means that part of the ocean over which a littoral (shoreline) state has exactly the same powers as it has over" its land territory, Katz said.

The three-mile limit is universally recognized, he explained. The 12-mile limit is claimed by enough nations, including Soviet Russia, that such a claim is not regarded as "unusual, unreasonable or necessarily wrong."

Equador, Peru and Bolivia claim 200 miles.

Katz is Henry L. Stimson professor of law and director of international legal studies at Harvard University. He made his observations in a telephoned interview Friday with The Associated Press.

North Korea seized the Pueblo, an electronic intelligence ship, and its crew of 83 Monday in the sea east of Wonsan. Speaking Friday in the U.N. Security Council, U.S. Ambassador Arthur W. Goldberg said the Pueblo was 16.3 miles from the nearest mainland point and 15.3 miles from the North Korean island of Ung Do when it was seized.

North Korea claims a 12-mile territorial limit at sea and says the Pueblo was inside this line when caught.

Katz said that a nation can enact laws defining criminal conduct in its territorial waters, including unauthorized intrusions. And then it can act to enforce its laws ugainst intruders, including seizure and punishment.

Captured U.S. Pilots May Be Released

mer of 1966 and was picked up by an allied aircraft.

More than 100 U.S. airmen are known to have been captured during the nearly three-year air campaign over North Vietnam. Another 400 are listed as missing and a number of these are presumed captured.

South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu announced Saturday that 53 political and other prisoners—many of them Viet Cong suspects—will be released and the terms of 334 others shortened, to commemorate the new year.

The South Vietnamese government is also trying to release 40 North Vietnamese army invalid prisoners, a government spokesman reported. But, Thieu added, so far North Vietnam has not indicated it wants them back. A message was conveyed to Hanoi "more than a month ago" through the International Red Cross, he said.

Thant Again Must Cancel UW Talk

MADISON (AP) — An emergency United Nations Security Council session which began Friday will prevent Secretary General U Thant from receiving an honorary degree from the Pniversity of Wisconsin today.

The university reported that it received word from U Thant, who was to have been awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree at the midyear commencement, that he had to cancel the trip.

It was the second time in eight months that U Thant had to call off a visit to Madison to receive the UW honor. Last June, he was to have received the degree, but the Israeli-Arab crisis forced him to cancel plans.

Is the Big Stick Just a Switch?

The bare fact that a nation like North Korea would dare to board and seize a vessel of the United States Navy in waters off its coast is telling evidence of the immense loss of international prestige this country has suffered during our involvement in Vietnam And at the moment we seem impotent to do anything about it

The vast stores of nuclear arms we have accumulated since World War II and the multiplicity of vehicles we have developed to deliver them are of no value whatsoever in a situation such as this The truth of the matter is that our nuclear arsenal is of value only in neutralizing the similar power which Russia possesses

Meantime the traditional armaments which our military forces possess have been proved of questionable value in our commitment of these forces in Vietnam In a commitment of those forces exceeded only in two World Wars we have had only limited success against a band of guerillas in South Vietnam and against the relatively poor nation of North Vietnam

Conceivably we could mount a landing party of sufficient strength to recapture the USS Pueblo and free its crew But considering the extent of our commitment in Vietnam this could take a fair amount of time And much more important a consideration the risks of such an action must include our involvement in another land war in Asia with at least the North Koreans and possibly even Red China

North Vietnam is certainly showing no signs these days of cowering before the awful might of the US arms Hanoi is assembling an impressive force just north of the demilitarized zone which may well launch a sizeable invasion of South Vietnam Attacks have been launched across the border into Laos representing a significant escalation of the conflict

The big stick which the United States held behind its back after victory in World War II has been swung against a small Communist nation in Asia and found to be more of a willow switch than a baseball bat The fact that North Korea considers it so is the most terrifying aspect of the whole Pueblo crisis

The Crash Off Greenland

The crash near Greenland of a United States B 52 bomber with four hydrogen bombs on board can be expected to draw more ire from people around the world who are worried about American power

So far it appears that the fire on board the plane which caused the pilot to order the crew to bail out may have melted the ice and the plane sank into deep water Evidence of some radioactivity in the area has led authorities to believe that at least one of the bombs cracked open as it did in the crash in Spain two years ago The extensive safety measures presumably mean that the danger of explosion in such cases is extremely slight

But already there have come protests from Denmark that the American agreement under which we obtained base rights at Thule included a promise not to fly planes carrying nuclear weapons over Danish airspace Obviously the change of route was determined by the pilot in order to save his crew when the fire broke out and Denmark is not expected to make much of a fuss about it officially Nevertheless the problem remains and political opposition can be expected about American bases in other parts of the world The hard fact is that a great many people in many nations simply do not want to have anything to do with nuclear weapons If this appears to be an ostrich approach it is at least consistent with efforts to avoid nuclear war

The crash in Greenland was the 13th such incident involving nuclear weapons announced by the Department of Defense since 1958 There will be more and each must be expected to raise deeper concern about permitting fly-overs by American military aircraft

Oh, for the Good Old Rah-Rah Days!

There are being some serious efforts made to find accommodation on university campuses between the advocates of demonstrations and those who would have relative peace and quiet The National Student Association and the American Association of University Professors have endorsed a statement on student rights and freedoms drawn up last summer by five educational organizations Meanwhile Wisconsin s state university system is trying to adopt regulations for use on all nine campuses

As part of the effort the National Student Association has made a study of campus demonstrations which happened at 62 colleges last October and November It is rather interesting exactly what subjects students think are important enough to demonstrate about

The appearance on the campus of the Dow Chemical Company a manufacturer of napalm used in Vietnam was the primary target Twenty seven of the seventy-one demonstrations were to protest Dow recruiting on the campus Runner up but a long way down was military recruiting with eight demonstrations There were six protests of C I A and Defense Department contract work while black power and racial integrationists staged four demonstrations each Compulsory R O T C and the quality of college food rated three protests two were directly opposed to the war as were social rules and safer road crossings while there was one demonstration each about campus building programs and the quality of education

Students are often charged with ivory tower existence remote from the problems of the world and concerned only about their own university bound existence But their protests at least show far more interest for what is going on off the campus than on at least as far as opposing things is concerned

The NSA report also stressed the finding that the demonstrations were sponsored initiated and led by students at the campus and all focused on a social political or educational issue and for example did not include panty raids or football rallies "

For better or worse the rah-rah college days seem to be only a memory of the parents of those now on the campuses

'Gloomy Sunday'

Back in the 1930 s an Hungarian named Rezsoe Seres wrote a best selling song called Gloomy Sunday Its words and music were so despairing that quite a few Hungarians wrote suicide notes citing the song as the final blow that led to their deaths Hungarian officials finally banned the song from the country When it was recorded in English some American radio stations also refused to play it

After a while the song s reputation faded away and presumably so did the sales Mr Seres never was able to come up with another song to match the notoriety or money making capacity of his "Gloomy Sunday

And so in Budapest last week Mr Seres jumped out of a window to his death — on a Sunday Whether the song really meant something or whether Mr Seres by his final act intended to prove that it did we ll never really know

Looking Backward

Supreme Court Shall be Purged!

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan 18 1868

There is a growing sentiment among the thinking men of this State that the wholly partisan character of the Wisconsin Supreme Court should be made to give place to universally acknowledged legal ability and judicial impartiality

Ever s i n c e the Supreme Court set at defiance the expressed will of the people on the question of extension of suffrage to Negroes in this State there had been a feeling of insecurity prevalent a dread lest some other mere partisan need might induce the men of easy virtue on the Bench to strike down some important Constitutional right or wantonly invade some well established popular prerogative

The people really cared little whether Wisconsin Negroes were or were not invested with the right to vote or sit on juries, but the manner in which the Supreme Judges groveled at the beck of Madison political prostitutes to arrive at the decision they made in the case, carried with it an odor which has tainted the very air of that Court Room from that day to this

We trust if the Democrats and Conservatives of this State should ask such legal minds as William Pitt Wynde S U Pinney E Holmes Ellis or James S Brown to be candidates for Chief Justice or Associate Justice that they will patriotically forego personal inclinations and accept

The Supreme Court will be purged and purified at the April election

French Separatist Movement in Quebec Gaining Strength

QUEBEC (AP) — The French Canadian separatist movement strengthened by new leadership and encouraged by the views of French President Charles de Gaulle shows signs of broadening its narrow political base in Quebec province

The minority movement growing at a snail s pace for the last 10 years amid the sweeping social change of Quebec s quiet revolution' attracted significant new support in 1967 among professional politicians

But separatism also picked up a notable number of new opponents including the Opposition Liberal Party which rejected separatism in all its forms and Premier Daniel Johnson who rejected separatism for the moment

Johnson b e l i e v e s that French speaking Canadians 80 per cent of whom live in Quebec province can remain within the Canadian federal structure provided constitutional changes make them feel at home in all Canada

OFFICIAL STATUS

In the existing constitutional setup under the 1867 British North America Act Quebec is the only Canadian province where both French and English enjoy official status in the legislature courts and schools

Bilingualism in some form was recommended to the nine other provinces which are unilingually English by a federal royal commission of inquiry whose language recommendations will be studied by the provinces and federal government in February

While federalist politicians prepare for discussions on bilingualism at constitutional talks called by Prime Minster Lester Pearson the separatist plan meetings to find ways of struggling out of the political wilderness

They view the provincial state as the sole savior of the French culture in North America arguing that only in Quebec can French Canadians master their destiny for only here do they form a majority

They contend that French-Canadians who numbered 5-540 000 or 30 per cent of the Canadian population in the 1961 census can never live with dignity in Canada because they will forever be a minority

The best way to protect the French culture in predominantly English-language North America, they claim, is to build Quebec into an independent state whose sole official language would be French

In Quebec according to the 1961 census the French speaking population numbered about 4 200 000 or more than 81 per cent of the provincial population The remaining 1 340 000 French Canadians live in other provinces

TWO HELPFUL EVENTS

Two events in 1967 make separatists view their future with optimism — the state visit of De Gaulle in July and the resignation from the Quebec Liberal Party in October of an influential politician former Quebec Cabinet Minister Rene Levesque

E m otionally, separatism s finest moment came that night in J u l y when De Gaulle mounted the balcony of Montreal s city hall to shout the separatist rally cry Vive le Quebec Libre — Long Love Free Quebec

Politically separatism s biggest gain came when Levesque broke with the Liberal party to advocate establishing an independent Quebec linked to the rest of Canada by a form of economic common market

Levesque among the province s most popular politicians is heading a movement to regroup separatist forces in a single separatist party whose policies would attract wider popular support

Many Levesque supporters scorn oldtime separatists as i m m a t u r e complex-ridden characters whose real rallying cry is Maudit Anglais" — Damm English — not ' Quebec Libre

Levesque s campaigning in Quebec since he quit the Liberal Party has produced indications he may be able to extend support for separatism beyond its base among middle-class intellectuals

Almost all observers concede that Levesque will be able to increase support for separatism but few would agree with his personal forecast that Quebec independence is only four years from realization

In fact many separatists say privately that they anticipate continued tough going, electorally arising from lack of widespread support in the politically p o w e r f u l rural areas

Despite these electoral problems the separatist issue is taken seriously, at least by Quebec politicians because it represents an extreme expression of a broadly-based form of French-Canadian nationalism

INTELLECTUAL CIRCLES

This new nationalism, forged amid profound social change as Quebec adjusted to accelerated u r b a n and industrial growth views the state as guardian of the French culture A large proportion of its adherents are in universities the professions a n d intellectual circles

The Liberals applied this nationalism in constitutional terms by urging that Quebec have special status in Canada as the principal home of la nation Canadienne-Francaise '

Some of the country s most outspoken opponents of separatism include French Canadians in other provinces centered mostly in neighboring Ontario — 425 000 or 7 per cent of the population — and New Brunswick — 211 000 or 35 per cent

The French Canadian minority outside Quebec tend to identify the federal government as the government in the best position to preserve the French fact in Canada and see themselves as the key to French language expansion

As a result French-Canadian separatism is confined almost exclusively t o Quebec although some radicals suggest an independent French state including bordering regions of northwestern New Brunswick and northern Ontario

The royal commission on b i l i ngualism recommended that official bilingualism be extended to Ontario and New Brunswick and that bilingual districts be established where justified in other individual provinces

The proportion of Canadians whose ethnic origin is French remains virtually the same today as at the time of confederation in 1867 when it numbered slightly more than 1 000 000 or 30 per cent of the total population

At confederation more than 929 000 lived in the province of Quebec and French Canadians then formed about 14 per cent of the provinces of Ontario Nova Scotia and New Brunswick

Wisconsin Report

Nixon Is Universally Regarded as Favorite In Wisconsin Primary

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Early reports of the political diagnosticians of the American press about the favored position of Richard Nixon in the forthcoming Wisconsin presidential primary are so consistently optimistic that they may well concern some of the captains and troops Nixon has organized here for that early trial of his aspirations

Wyngaard

Just about everybody who has commented about the situation thus far including those foreign correspondents who drop in for a day or two of chatting with sources who may or may not be especially informed at this early date has concluded that Nixon cannot fail to win here

There is a hazard in such a public impression Not only can there be nothing certain about it it is still more than two months before the ballots in the April 2 election will be counted and surely before the rank and file of the voters have d o n e much thinking about their decision Early confidence may very well be debilitating within the Nixon organization

MUST WIN BIG

Nixon must not only win here He must win big resoundingly convincingly so persuasively t h a t the event will r e m o v e the lingering doubt about him which is perhaps his greatest liability This is the doubt that he can win against the Democratic administration in November and the doubt that he is as effective a vote getter as some of the men who won t be figuring in the Wisconsin preconvention count and notably Govs Rockefeller and Reagan

It is the consensus meanwhile that Nixon s principal rival on the Wisconsin ballot Gov Romney of Michigan has lost considerable ground since his candidacy became known more than a year ago The polls are discouraging His progress in organizing a campaign apparatus here is either miraculously secret or it has been a failure for it is not yet visible to those who look for it

Yet the underdog role is not always a disadvantage as the history of Wisconsin elections shows Much can happen in 60 days If Romney survives New Hampshire, which precedes Wisconsin in the presidential preference balloting, he cannot be counted out here however indifferently his drive has been launched in Wisconsin thus far

WON'T F I G U R E SIGNIFICANTLY

It seems unlikely that the presence on the ballot of Reagan or possibly Percy, or Stassen, will figure significantly in the contest between Romney and Nixon When the presidential electoral commission lists the name of Rockefeller at its meeting e a r l y near month, it seems certain that he will file a disclaimer and thus remove his name

That will be a fortuitous event for Nixon But it will also throw a certain doubt on the value of the result With each passing week it comes more clear that Rockefeller for all of his stubborn loyalty to Romney and his determination to honor his promise to support him could alter the Wisconsin voting trend significantly and perhaps decisively if he should or could permit his name to be lised here April 2

At the moment no serious politican can doubt that Nixon will win more votes here in April than any other candidate on his ballot

But winning a majority of the delegates may not be enough As his managers know the Wisconsin primary is more important than any of the preconvention primaries, surely more important than the expression of the tiny populace of New Hampshire Wisconsin is a typical state It occupies the center of the historic Republic heartland

MUST ERASE DOUBT

If there is any doubt in the record after April about the acceptability of Nixon among Republican voters — in a year when the Democratic crossover will be negligible as an explanation — it may be hurtful to his cause in the end Losing a district or two would be an example

To clinch his position as the front runner in the national polls Nixon must deliver the goods here, and that will probably mean a clean sweep or 30 delegates As the most experienced national Republican personality now on the scene and as the man who has put together the cream of the state Republican organization in his corner this year, he doubtless knows that better than anyone

Dr. Jones' Advice On Children Disputed

Editor Post Crescent

Since our children have left our hearth and home your columns on child rearing by a Dr Eve Jones rarely finds me among its readers However several nights ago I was lured into reading it by her assertion that little bed wetters are often inclined to be little arsonists That strange correlation bothered me less though than her second subject and her incredible advice to parents that they are not punish their children until they re of college age!

' Expert Jones says

DEAR DR JONES Is punishing a child better than spanking? MRS U T

Until a person is truly able to decide for himself how to act, it's foolish to punish him in any way for the way he has acted None of us becomes capable of genuine independence of judgment until we're young adults, so it seems silly to me for parents to use any form of punishment with their children before college age Until then, it's up to the parents to arrange matters so a child is channeled into doing the things he's supposed to do and prevented from doing the things he isn't allowed to do When there's a slip-up, parents might as well limit themselves to telling their children they're angry and then forget it

Presumably once they re out of high school you can slap their little hands when they steal a car or send them to bed early for burning down the town hall I think Little Eve had better go back and cross the ice again!

You may take the stand that a columnist s views are not necessarily those of your paper Nevertheless I think it's your responsibility to review the articles before they run and delete this sort of reckless advice Sometime Dr Molner might tell us that a little strychnine is good for the liver and then what would you do for subscribers?

Your Problems

Teen Finds Running Away From Home Solves Nothing

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 14-year-old boy who wants to say something to all the kids in this country who think they would like to run away from home. "Forget it!"

Landers

My dad yelled at me the other night and I decided the best way to get even with him was to leave home. I packed a bag, took some bread, peanut butter and jelly in a sack and away I went. The first night I slept in an empty garage. I darn near froze to death. A couple of dogs chased me. I caught a cold, the bread got hard and I began to worry about my folks, especially my mother. I went to a movie the second day but I didn't enjoy it at all. I decided I had done a dumb thing and I'd better call up my dad and ask him to come and get me.

When I called home my mom answered. She was so glad to hear my voice I thought she would jump through the telephone. In no time at all my folks came and got me. My mom's eyes were so swollen I could see she had cried all night. My dad's eyes were red, too. They didn't holler at me at all, they just said they were glad to have me back.

Now I know that home is the greatest place in the world. If my dad yells at me again I will ask myself, "Why is he yelling?" and I will shape up and do what I'm supposed to do.

Please print my letter. Maybe if I had seen one like it I wouldn't have done such a dumb thing. — Smarter Now

Dear Smarter: Here's your letter and I'm glad you're home. Running away never solves a problem, it usually creates new ones. Thanks for letting us know how it was with you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a divorced woman who is in love with a man of fine character. He has a lovely disposition and treats me well. He makes a good salary but will never set the world on fire.

The problem is that I have substantial holdings and the interest on my investments are greater than his salary. He has no idea that I have a dime.

Should I tell him now about my finances? Will he feel I tricked him if I wait until after we marry? — Sweet Pea

Dear Sweet Pea: You've got high class worries, honey. Break the news a few days before the wedding. I doubt that it will spoil anything.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We just had our fourth daughter and all I can think of is the cost of marrying these girls off.

Please tell me why the bride's family always have to foot the bill for the wedding? I know it is customary, but with so many things changing, why doesn't somebody change this custom?

The groom's family invites just as many friends and relatives as the bride's family. Is it fair that the father of the bride should get struck for a big bash when half the guests are people he barely knows?

What you say carries a lot of weight, Ann Landers. Please launch a campaign to split the cost of the wedding between the two families. — Over the Hill to the Poorhouse

Dear Over: You've got about 20 years to save up for the weddings, Dad, so start socking it away and don't count on customs changing. A wedding need not be a big bash and it certainly should not be more lavish than you can comfortably afford.

Drinking may be "in" to the kids you run with — but it can put you "out" for keeps. You can cool it and stay popular. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Signals Can be Confusing

It isn't always necessary for your partner to signal what he thinks of your opening lead. Sometimes you can tell by the way declarer plays.

Opening lead — ♠ K

West opened the king of spades, and declarer played the nine from dummy. East followed suit with the four, and South with the deuce. West came to the conclusion that his partner had played his lowest spade to discourage a spade continuation.

With this addled notion in mind, West shifted to the eight of diamonds. South hopefully played low from dummy, and East had to play the king to win the trick. Now South could eventually get rid of a spade on dummy's queen of diamonds. This was all he needed to make the game and rubber.

Should Continue

It's clear to us, since we can see all the cards, that West would defeat the contract if he continued with a low spade at the second trick. Declarer would have to put up dummy's ace of spades. West would get in with the king of clubs to take a second spade trick, and East would also get the king of diamonds.

"How can I tell?" West asked when the hand was over.

"Where did you think the jack of spades was?" East asked in return. This was the key question. If South had the jack of spades he would win the first trick with dummy's ace to make sure of two spade tricks. East obviously had the jack of spades but couldn't afford to signal with it (since then South could finesse with the ten of spades to lose only one spade trick).

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S - 8 3 2; H - K J 10 6 2; D - 10 4; C - A Q J. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. The hand is nearly, but not quite, worth an opening bid of one heart. Change one of the low spades to a low heart, and you would open the bidding.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

As a retired plumber who has made most of his living by replacing washers in dripping faucets, I would like to tip off some of your housewives so they can tell their husbands this little secret.

Men usually turn off a water faucet too hard. This only wears out the washer because the metal part squeezes and cuts into it.

Hydrants should be kept from dripping by turning them off gently.

If it drips, a new washer is definitely needed. But there's absolutely no reason to ruin a washer by squeezing it so hard everytime that it gets cut.

A service call is expensive. The plumber's time costs the same whether it's to replace a washer or weld a pipe. Also, there is a minimum service charge.

Retired Plumber

Whenever a serviceman comes to my house, I stand there and watch and see what they do so I might be able to fix it myself next time.

What price preventive maintenance? I've saved lots of $$$ this way.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever tried to cut pizza with a knife or scissors? I have and usually burn myself or make a mess.

I've found that my dressmaker's tracing wheel does a perfect job. It's stainless steel, won't rust and works perfectly on pizza.

Cuts a nice, smooth line too.

Mrs. Harold Killian

Dear Heloise:

The other day I resolved to wash my hair and set it. Wash I did, but when I went to set it, I discovered my teen-agers had absconded with my rat-tailed comb and every other comb in the house.

I stormed and fumed and hunted to no avail . . . the dears were safely in school and beyond my reach.

I ended up using the dog comb (washed) and an old orange stick.

Ginni Chaffin

What price mothers! Or should we say children?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I hope none of your readers need this hint, but here's how I solved the problem when confronted with it.

A mouse ate a hole in the screen lint filter of my clothes dryer.

I took two small squares of nylon net and sewed them by hand, one on the front and one on the back of the filter.

Saved having to buy a new filter.

Kay Hoffman

Dear Heloise:

If your couch slipcovers pull down every time someone sits on them, just place a row of thumb tacks along the bottom of the cover on the back of the couch.

It will really stay put and solve constant adjusting.

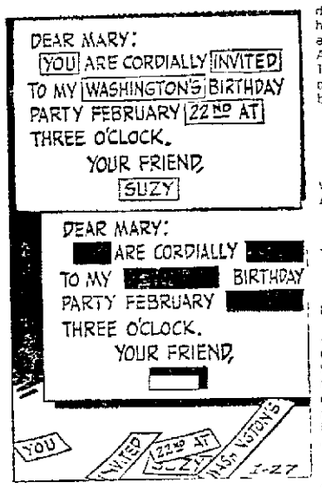
Have a Party Invitations Puzzle for Your Guests

Special preparation of your party invitations can provide extra interest in advance of the occasion. All you need do is send the invitations to your friends in the form of a puzzle. To see what the invitation says, a person receiving it must solve the puzzle.

This will not be difficult to do and it will prove to be fun.

An example of an invitation to a Washington's Birthday Party which Suzy is planning to hold is used as an illustration in the adjoining drawing. At the top is the complete invitation as Suzy first printed it. The words with borders around them are the ones which Suzy intends to cut out of the paper so that there will be holes as shown at the bottom of the sketch.



Missing Words

She places the invitation into its envelope and also inserts the words she cut from the paper.

When Marry receives the invitation, she will have to fit the words into the holes.

If Suzy doesn't hear from Mary within a reasonable time after sending the invitation she should telephone Mary to be sure she was able to put the message together.

Monday: Lots more good fun for every boy and girl!

This Week's TV Shows Had Viewers Talking

Producers Worried, But Response to New 'Laugh-In,' 'Laura' Proof of Audiences

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The single thing that has been troubling television executives for the past few seasons—troubling them more than bad ratings—has been the fact that people seem to have stopped talking much about television.

The viewers groan a lot and say that days go by when they don't even bother to turn on the darned set—and one suspects that they exaggerate. But television's current offerings just don't seem to bring on the violent reactions of those good old days.

But during the past week television has—somewhat unexpectedly—moved back into the mainstream of viewers' conversation.

On Monday night the premier of NBC's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-in," a midseason replacement, arrived with a pace and verve that was stimulating. It took some impudent funny sideswipes on subjects ranging from government policy and Charles de Gaulle to rock n' roll and pot. And the networks, which have been afflicted with a desire to please all the people all of the time, have suddenly decided that controversial material isn't all bad.

The day after the premiere show viewers talked, with delight, about seeing a really funny show.

The television debut of Lee Bouvier on Wednesday night also caused excited ripples on a TV lake too long placid. Her first starring vehicle drew some deadly critical shafts, but the audience turned out to see the show.

A preliminary count by A. C. Nielsen, the audience research company, found that in the New York metropolitan area alone, "Laura" had as many viewers as the other two network stations combined.

The only thing now to fear is that controversy and satire may suddenly become very popular and like other TV fads run its course fast. And also that offbeat casting to attract audiences will become more important than the kind of plays presented.

Season Ahead

All three networks are now in the throes of drawing up schedules for next season.

CBS, which in the past couple of seasons has been the first to announce its plans for the next September, plans so few changes that there are really no cliffhangers.

It is likely that Doris Day's new half-hour situation comedy series will replace "Good Morning World" on Tuesday nights, and that a 90-minute whodunit action series, "Hawaii-Five-O" will take over Thursday night's "Cimarron Strip." CBS is expected to have only one other time spot left to fill, probably the half hour now occupied by "He and She" on Wednesdays.

NBC has announced "The Name of the Game" as a 90-minute action series for Friday nights next fall. "Star Trek" is now given a 50-50 chance for survival, although in a new time period if it makes it. NBC programs believed to be candidates for oblivion include "I Dream of Jeannie," "The Danny Thomas Hour" and, almost certainly, either "I Spy" or "Run for Your Life."

Stars of Tomorrow Awards!

BY TV SCOUT

8:30-9:30 (Channels 11-9) — The 1968 Hollywood Stars of Tomorrow Awards has loaded itself with 19 categories to be covered in this one hour which enables it to take advantage of some top names from Raquel Welch (International) to Ed Sullivan (Starmaker). The idea is to pick future stars from a group that is already rather well established. Nominees include Dick Benjamin, Tina Cole, Nancy Sinatra, Bobbie Gentry, George Carlin, Faye Dunaway, Barbara Feldon and Tommy Steele to name just a few. The program is telecast from the Hollywood Paladium with Gene Kelly hosting and don't be too disappointed if many of the names involved are not there. (C)

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7) — Jane Kean is among the stars of a variety hour on The Jackie Gleason Show, doffing her Honeymooners' role to display her versatility including a medley of Broadway show tunes as they might be sung by stars like Ethel Merman and Eartha Kitt. Dom DeLuise holds the spotlight with Jackie talking about their early days in show business, and Diahann Carroll is in the light singing "Little Girl Blue." Also on hand: singer Wayne Newton ("That's Life") and comedian Tim Conway in a flip conversation with Jackie about some of his alleged business properties. (C)

Jeffrey Hunter stars as George R. Tweed, the guerilla leader with Barbara Perez and Joseph de Cordova featured as a girl, and priest who helped him and hid him during that time. (C)

Over-Symbolism Stops Performance at College

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A chaperone stopped a dance at Portland State College Saturday night because she thought the sexual symbolism of an on-stage performing group was too indecent for young persons to see.

A troupe of 30 musicians and dancers from Western Washington State College, Bellingham, Wash., was putting on a rock-light-drama show called: "The Bellingham Flash Presents Silverman—A Multi-Media Event, Lights, Drama, Music and Elements of Happening."

Statue of Confucious Turns Out to be Bust

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Workmen strived for four hours to get an imported, nine-foot plaster likeness of Confucius into the Chinese Development Center, only to discover the statue was a bust.

The statue of the Chinese philosopher-statesman had been cast in Taiwan and was a feature of the Nationalist Chinese pavilion at Expo 67 in Montreal. But when his crate was finally opened recently, there was nothing left of him but a pile of broken crockery.

Three T-C Area Men Injured in Road Accidents

Snow, Ice Lead To Rash of Crashes On County Highways

OSHKOSH — Snow and icy road conditions led to a rash of Winnebago County accidents from Friday afternoon into the weekend, with three involving injuries to Neenah-Menasha area residents

Two one-car accidents early Saturday morning resulted in injuries to two Menasha men Clarence D. Carlson, 47, 637 Broad St., and Gregory C Pottner, 24, 305 Milwaukee St., were injuried in separate accidents just east of Menasha.

Carlson suffered a lacerated left knee and head and a bruised left arm and was taken to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital by a passing motorist after his auto went out of control on a curve on County Trunk BP. The auto went into the right hand ditch, hit a power pole and ended up in the ditch facing the roadway

The entire front end of the auto was damaged, authorities said.

Pottner received a small cut and bump on the head after his auto, headed south on State 114, west of Traders Road, went out of control, crossed the roadway, hit a culvert and flipped over Winnebago County authorities said the auto was a total wreck.

A one-vehicle accident early Friday afternoon resulted in minor injuries to Marvin L. Johnson, 65, route 1, Larsen. Johnson suffered bruises to the legs, hip and shoulder, and was treated by a doctor.

The accident, which took place on County Trunk H about four miles south of Fremont, occured as Johnson was heading south on H and lost control on a curve, struck a bridge abutment and landed upside down in the dry bed of Adler Creek.

The vehicle, a dump truck owned by Courtney and Plummer Inc., Neenah, received over $5,000 damage to the front and left side, authorities said

The January Thaw of the Past Week put springtime into many Twin City residents' hearts. This boatman's unseasonable activities were captured by the photographer on the Fox River in Neenah, opposite the Theda Clark Memorial Hospital construction project visible in the background. Snow and snappy temperatures ended the week and presumably put the boatman's enthusiasm back on ice for a time. (Max Wolf Photo)

Follows K-C Move

C of C Defends Oshkosh Port

OSHKOSH — The Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce has set as one of its 1968 goals the maintenance of Winnebago County's regional airport

The move follows the recent termination by Kimberly-Clark Corp., of its Winnebago County Airport hangar lease with the county

The firm also signed a 15-year lease with Outagamie County to be effective Jan 31, 1969, the date that its lease with Winnebago County terminates.

The new lease will have three five-year renewal options and Outagamie County has agreed to build a new hangar so the firm can house its four engine jet, twin engine jet, twin engine prop-jet and conventional twin engine plane.

The use of the Winnebago County Airport hangar which the firm currently occupies has not yet been determined.

In a statement of the 1968 priority projects, the chamber states, "Outagamie County, under the guise of general aviation, hopes to establish their airport as the major airport between Fond du Lac and Green Bay."

"The movement of Kimberly-Clark to Outagamie County is an example," the report said.

"An aggressive program is needed to build general aviation here to retain state and federal support of our facility," it continued.

"The chamber plans to push for development of an air industrial park adjacent to the Winnebago County Airport that would encourage local firms with aircraft to move next to the field and attract new firms who would do business by air," it said.

The chamber also will join with other state cities to support North Central Airlines, petition for single plane service to Minneapolis-St. Paul, Detroit, Boston, New York, Washington, D C., and other eastern cities.

The Winnebago County Airport already has scheduled additional service to its passengers.

Louis Griedl, North Central station manager at the airport, said beginning Feb 1 non-stop, DC-9 jet service would be available to and from Chicago, with flights originating and terminating at Oshkosh.

According to Griedl, flight 231 will leave Chicago at 10:30 a m and terminate at Oshkosh at 11:10 a.m. Flight 232, originating at Oshkosh, will depart non-stop to Chicago, arriving there at 12:10 p.m.

Griedl noted that the flights are scheduled at the prime time of the day, thereby allowing connections to most or all major aircraft in Chicago

Winnebago County began its jet service in September and currently has two jets making stops at Oshkosh.

Trigonitis Is Caused by Bladder Inflammation

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is the term trigonitis associated with inflammation of the bladder? If I have the correct term, would you explain the nature of this affliction? Can it be controlled? I am 69. — D.R.L.

Trigonitis is a bladder disorder. The trigon is an anatomical area like an upside down triangle with the urefers (the ducts from the kidneys to the bladder) at the base, and the urethra (outlet from the bladder) at the apex.

Dr. Molner

This area, the trigon, can become inflamed when other parts of the bladder do not. Trigonitis, of course, is inflammation of that area.

Stricture, or narrowing of the outlet, or urethra, can be a factor in such an infection Likewise if the bladder sags (cystocele) the trigon becomes vulnerable from the same basic cause: Pooling or retention of urine, which becomes an irritant as well as a convenient place for germs to multiply.

Can trigonitis be controlled? I would say the correct answer, generally speaking, is yes, but this depends on the individual case. Such an inflammation, long left untended, may have become chronic and amenable to little except measures to retard it from spreading.

For the most part, however, it can be controlled, just as most infections can be controlled with the proper measures. Usually, however, successful treatment of trigonitis will depend on correcting the defects in the outlet from the bladder. As with most ailments, get at the root of the trouble and you can correct it. If one tries to depend on superficial remedies, prospects are not too promising.

Dear Dr. Molner: I learned several new things the other night that are quite alarming. They are evidently designed to move one to buy a $400 or $500 stainless steel cookware set. Food cooked in aluminum pans is really very dangerous, I was told, and the cancer rate has risen since aluminum cookware came into use, and some European countries forbid aluminum.

One of the big companies owns over 50 per cent interest in aluminum companies. Doesn't this explain why none of this information is ever published? — M.P.B.

You really got exposed to the full course of propaganda, didn't you? Such "lectures" to scare people into buying a new set of pots and pans have been given all over the country, and some people keep believing them.

There isn't any "big company" preventing anyone from speaking out if there is anything dangerous about cooking in aluminum utensils. There isn't any danger. The "cancer" scare and all the rest of the stuff is propaganda, pure and simple. Or impure and not simple. But not true. Steel cookware is excellent, but buy it if you like it, not because of any scare stories or health worries.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have great confidence in my doctor but am still worried over my blood pressure which has been 150-100 for several months. All tests are satisfactory. He says not to worry but I do. I am 59. — Mrs. R.J.D.

Sounds to me as though you DON'T have confidence in your doctor. With other physical tests and observations showing normal, your blood pressure doesn't sound to me like a cause for alarm.

Note to Mrs. M.G.C.: Diabetes doesn't disappear — but with such a mild case as you describe, I can't see why it should bother you.

Early American Corner Reverses Time at Taft School Kindergarten

BY FERN SMITH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — In an "early American" corner of the Taft School kindergarten, the children have taken a step back into an intriguing era and created for themselves a "way-out" spot in the space age.

Lori, Danny, Melanie and Mike can tell you that coffee did not always come already ground in the bright red tins from the grocery shelf — there is a hand grinder The cookie cutter, the copper mug, the pewter teapot and candle sticks, were hand wrought by skilled workmen.

There were lamps which had to be filled with kerosene, wicks trimmed, chimneys washed — quite different from snapping the light switch.

"Did you know," Scott asked, that horses have their shoes nailed on and that nails were made at a hand forge?"

"Mothers ironed with heavy two-pointed irons, heated on the top of the stove or filled with glowing charcoal, one child reported Another brought one of the first electric irons.

It wasn't enough to look at a butter churn, the children made their own butter — and had a tasting party. They knew the wooden bowl and spoon used for skimming the cream, checked the temperature before churning and viewed the various kinds of churn They were amazed when they ate their "very own butter" on crackers — "yummme-e-e."

Surrounded by these and other objects, including, a "home-made rocking chair," an old embroidery hoop, a wooden nickel, tin lunch box, a ship's wheel, antique bell and clock, hand tatted linen napkin and pressed glass picture — the children learned their uses

But, more, they learned that man made what he could not buy. They wrote original songs about the customs they learned from the memorabilia of early America: shoeing the horse, grinding the coffee, beating the carpet and milking the cow

A passing fancy for the 22 children who have learned the fascination and art of an early heritage? Now hopefully, some of the love of their teacher, Mrs. Florence Spanbauer, for early America and collecting items from the period will have rubbed off on them — giving them a hobby for life.

Neenah Election Heat Rises as Manager Group Plans Campaign Kickoff

NEENAH — With the mayoral election contest already heating up as a four-way race, the official kickoff of the campaign to change to the city manager form of government was announced today.

Citizens for City Manager (CCM) announced plans are nearing completion for a dinner at the Neenah-Menasha Elks Club, Menasha, on Feb. 26 to formally launch their campaign for votes in the April referendum, and to raise funds to finance the effort.

Mrs. Michael Sacher, 774 Chestnut St., chairman for the event, said efforts to secure a speaker are under way and may be completed next week. The group plans to meet Wednesday night, Sacher said.

Richard Widamann, 633 Hansen St., CCM chairman, will be master of ceremonies for the dinner.

The group previously issued challenges for a debate between proponents of the mayor and manager forms of government.

The issue, perhaps the most volatile in Neenah politics in recent years, has also prompted the Neenah-Menasha Jaycees to take an interest, currently working on plans for a public forum in which the arguments would be aired.

Meanwhile, with four candidates now announced for the mayor's post, new interest has been drawn toward that segment of the multifaceted spring balloting.

So far, Ald. Stanley Drews has filed papers to become the first candidate officially in the race for mayor, which becomes a $12,000 a year post after the April election unless voters choose to change to the city manager system.

Ald. Peter Fara, Certified Public Accountant Donald E. Hassler and water department employe Wilmer Fahrbach are still circulating papers. If at least three of the four file, it will mean a primary election runoff in March to reduce the number of candidates to two for the April 2 balloting.

Voters will face the choice, however, between the two systems of government, and will be presented the additional referendum question of whether to extend the mayor's term to four years from the present two.

If the manager form is selected, the winning mayor candidate will be without a post, the four-year term question will be moot and the city will temporarily be without a chief executive until the switch to manager is begun.

Great Red Spot On Jupiter Might Be Pool of Dye

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — The great red spot on the planet Jupiter that has puzzled astronomers since it was discovered in 1831 may be organic dye, scientists at Ames Research Center said Thursday.

Experiments at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration facility led to the conclusion, two researchers said.

Cyril Ponnamperuma and Fritz Woeller said the most obvious chemical explanation of the red spot may well be millions of square miles of red organic dye drawn into a vortex by a giant meteor crater or some other geographical feature in the solid hyrogen surface of Jupiter.

They said the planet's atmosphere may be largely red dye with an upwelling at the vortex through dense surrounding white clouds, creating the red spot.

The boys sold the rings, valued at from $1 to $3, for 10 cents to 25 cents, the detective said. Some of the rings were sold at an Appleton high school.

Lutheran Aid Has $32 Million New Life Insurance in 1967

Record Growth Is Reported To Board in Annual Statement

A record year of growth and continued prospects for more of the same at Aid Association for Lutherans were reported by AAL President Walter L. Rugland Friday in his annual statement to the board of Directors.

The amount of new life insurance paid for in 1967 — $478 million — was $32 million more than for the previous year and exceeded the prior year's production for the 29th consecutive time

Life insurance in force increased almost $365,000,000, reaching $3.987 billion in force at year end. The $4 billion mark was passed Friday

"The past year has seen evidences of greater frustration and uncertainties about the future among leading life insurance people than at any time in my memory," Rugland told the board. He noted, however, that a task force appointed by the directors of the Institute of Life Insurance had reported that continued population growth, particularly in the age group below 25, and rising family income replacement in the ued great need for life insurance The report cited strong and perhaps growing competition for the consumer's savings dollar. Rugland pointed out, "but in the area of proving income replacement in the event of death or disability, there is no threat whatever to the life insurance business."

Human Resources

"The development of our human resources is the most important of the management problems facing AAL in the next decade." Rugland declared "Problems of public motivation and competition with other financial media will be a reflection of our knowledge of the social and economic environment in which we operate and the appropriate and imaginative use of this knowledge."

Assets of AAL rose over $60 million to $657 million during the year. Rugland said, with premium income almost $79 million and income from investments in excess of $31 million.

In making his traditional 10-year comparison of business activity Rugland noted that new life insurance paid for during this decade was up 141 per cent, the number of new certificates issued is up about 40 per cent, insurance in force is up 215 per cent.

Aid Association for Lutherans now has nearly 850,000 members in all 50 states and five provinces of Canada who hold over a million contracts of life insurance or life annuities.

Investments Report

In his report to the president and board, William H. Zuehlke, Jr., senior vice president and director of investments, said that about $77 million in new long-term investments were made in 1967 which will provide an average yield of 6.19 per cent. That compares with 5.84 per cent yield on such investments a year ago. The net yield from all investments in 1967 was 5.0 per cent, compared with 4.83 per cent for the prior year.

George V. Krampien, senior vice president and director of agencies, reported that December production of new insurance paid for exceeded $59 million, an all-time record for a single month During the year, district representatives placed 70,515 certificates, with an average production of $658,171, also an all-time record.

Gerald C. Herzfeldt, vice president and director of fraternal affairs, reported benevolence grants in 1967 amounted to $1,068,151, another record, with more than 1,300 recipients of individual educational awards. Grants to education of all types exceeded $732,000. The Fraternal Affairs Division also supervises the activities of AAL's 4,166 local branches (86 new ones in 1967) and processed more than 170,000 address changes and 59,494 branch changes during the year

Three revisions in surplus refunds payments will result in an additional $1,300,000 in surplus refunds to members this year, according to Henry F. Scheig, newly appointed executive vice president Last July, changes in term insurance riders and the interest rates applicable to some types of surplus refunds will result in an increase of $500,000 in surplus refunds payments Another change effective Jan. 1, 1968, and affecting almost all business issued before 1962, will result in additional payments of $800,000 to members.

New Benefits

During the year AAL introduced a new orphans fraternal benefit and by year end applications had been received from four families involving nine orphans, Cyrus Rachie, senior vice president and legal counsel, said

The Treasurer's Division, headed by Vice President and Treasurer Wilmer C Stach, the Personnel and Communications Division, headed by T H Hartman, vice president and director of personnel and communications, and the Secretary's Division headed by Secretary John Steudel, were reorganized in 1967.

Stach outlined for the board work already completed on AAL's new information system, the first phase of which went into operation in September and additional improvements utilizing the System-360 Model 30 computer which are scheduled in 1969 Hartman described work done on the Association's new graphics design study, results of which will be seen in 1968, production of a colored motion picture telling the story of AAL, and the affiliation with The Biddle Company, Bloomington, Ill., advertising agency

Steudel's report explained the work of several units which were placed under the Secretary's Division, including the office services-general operating unit which handled more than 3,900,000 pieces of outgoing mail and microfilmed over 5 million pieces of material in 1967.

Petitions Planned

Fluoridation Program Considered For New London Water System

NEW LONDON — Petitions requesting the city council to adopt an ordinance for fluoridation of the city's water will soon be circulated by Jaycees and other persons interested in the program.

Thursday the city-school health committee gave its support to fluoridation. The board unanimously favored fluoridation of the water supply.

Past discussions and scientific data were cited by the health committee. Dr. W. Monsted, city health officer, will make an investigation of the water supply and equipment needed. Dr. Monsted also will get figures on the cost of the program for presentation to the council when petitions have been completed.

Jaycee Committee

William Borchardt, Roger Pitt and Vern Otto are members of the Jaycee committee which will be circulating petitions. The committee, which was formed in March, 1967, made a study on fluoridation in prevention of tooth decay and conducted an informal meeting in October, 1967. Since that time the committee investigated the manner in which flouride could be added to the water supply.

Dr. J. V. Lawton, a local dentist, spoke at a joint Jaycee-Jaycette dinner late last year and outlined the history and benefits of flouridation.

Lawton said that a Colorado dentist discovered fluoridation in 1902. A mottling coloration of the teeth aroused the dentist's curiosity, he said.

Investigation showed that the teeth were extremely strong and relatively free of decay. Lawton said that the mottling was caused by an excessive amount of fluoride in the natural water supply and does not occur in regulated fluoridated water.

Flouride Mixture

Fluoride is mixed one part per million parts of water in an additive program, he said. While fluoridation does not benefit the adult greatly, it can be of great benefit for children, Lawton explained.

Fluoride is assimilated into the body and into the tooth structure as it develops, making the tooth decay resistant, according to Lawton. "Dental decay is tremendous — very bad in this area," he warned.

He said fluoride helps build the matrix in a tooth and that children born in communities with a proper supply of fluoride in its water will have a 50 to 70 per cent less chance of tooth decay.

Lawton said fluoridation would be quite inexpensive after the original installation of equipment. He estimated cost at 7 to 12 cents per year for each person.

"We get many wild statements from people legitimately concerned over the effects of fluoride," Lawton said. He added that there are no known ill effects and contrary to popular belief the substance does not color or put any taste in water.

Fluoridation is not a purifier such as chlorine, but a dental preventative similar to an inoculation against polio, he explained.
